Still no answer on strip club request

Area closings in honor of Independence Day
The Sea Coast Echo and all state, federal, Hancock County, Waveland and Bay St. Louis government offices will be closed on Monday, July 5th. Garbage collection will remain on its regular schedule throughout Hancock County on Monday. The Hancock Bank, Whitney Bank and Union Planter's bank will also be closed.

Bayou Talla hosts American Barbecue
Bayou Talla Fellowship Church will host its Third annual "I Love America Day and Bar-B-Q Cook-off" today. The festivities begin at 10 a.m. with a rally in the Church auditorium. At 6 p.m. supper will be served outside on the grounds. Local bands will provide music from a stage on the grounds all evening. Watermelon eating contests, Space Walks, Dunking booths, and various entertainments will be ongoing.

Only two people spoke out in favor of the proposed strip club for a Hwy. 90 location. Most of the 300 to 400 attendees at Thursday's public hearing expressed opposition to the idea of sexually oriented businesses in Hancock County.

Zoning board takes time out to consider

A group of Diamondhead investors will have to wait a little longer to find out the fate of a strip club they have proposed to build on Hwy. 90, between the old alligator sign and the entrance to the Bay Side subdivision. Hancock County Planning and Zoning attorney John Scaife said a decision was likely to be made on the matter at the July 13 or the July 15 board meeting, after the board has time to digest the evidence presented. The investors, Kirk and Kristine Ladner, Jeffrey Jassby and Emmett Hotard, attended a public hearing on the matter Thursday afternoon, but remained silent. Gulfport attorney Virgil Gillespie spoke for the group. Officials estimated the cost of the project at $1 million. STRIP CLUB--PAGE 10A

Hancock teen held in sexual assault

19-year-old charged with capital rape, sexual battery of juvenile

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer
A Hancock County man was arrested last week on charges of capital rape and sexual battery. David Kapp, 19, was arrested early Saturday morning at a residence on the Waveland-Kilm Cutoff road according to Tom Roan, an investigator with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. "On Saturday, officers responded to a call in shoreline park area in regards to a juvenile who had been sexually assaulted," Roan said. "The juvenile was taken to the hospital for treatment, and the suspect was taken into custody." After an investigation, Kapp was charged with one count of rape, and two counts of sexual battery, Roan said. The victim was 11 years old. Kapp is currently being held at the Hancock County jail on a $300,000 bond.

County schools go 'electronic'

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer
In an effort to streamline business, the Hancock County School Board purchased five new laptops for the board members. All board members, except Morgan Ladner, district three, were present. School Board President Peggy Ladner said that with the new computers, the board was in the first stages of implementation. SCHOOLS--PAGE 10A

Friday's turnout was the largest ever for the Fourth of July Boat Parade in Diamondhead. There were 20 boats entered. All sizes were represented from cruisers to a pirogue. The crowd along Paradise Bayou was the largest seen in some time. Many parties with families were seen along the length of the bayou to watch the parade and later enjoy the Casino Magic fireworks display. Spectators lined the marina area and the Yacht Club. The parade was led into Paradise Bayou by the Hancock County Sheriff's Patrol boat. Photos courtesy of Pat Sheely

Best assumes command of the Naval Oceanographic Office

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Capt. Jeffrey Best, USN, assumed command of the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) in a Change of Command ceremony held July 2 at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Capt. Jeffrey Best

Best relieved interim Commanding Officer Capt. Parker Lumpkin, who will serve the United Nations as Senior U.S. Military Observer in Kosovo. Lumpkin was appointed interim Commanding Officer from April through July 2004. Prior to that, he served as NAVOCEANO's Executive Officer from July 2002 through April 2004, during which time he played an integral role in the development of the Command's Strategic Plan. Under Lumpkin's leadership, the Command achieved unparalleled successes in direct fleet support initiatives for forward-deployed, worldwide naval operations. Among those include support for the first-ever operational execution of a Rapid Environmental Assessment in the Persian Gulf to provide oceanographic support during Operation Iraqi Freedom. During the ceremony, Lumpkin reflected on his time at NAVOCEANO and said, "I have worked with the finest men and women in the Navy. It has truly been a remarkable journey."

As a Naval oceanographer, Best has served aboard numerous military ships throughout his nearly 25-year career. During Operations Desert Shield/Storm, Best supported DESRON-22 as oceanographer and staff watch officer aboard the USS CARON, USS TRIPOLI, USS MISSOURI and USS WISCONSIN. Additionally, he has served as oceanographer aboard the USS TRIPOLI, USS RANGER and Fleet Oceanographer for Commander Third Fleet. Most recently, Best served as first Commanding Officer of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Professional Development Center in Gulfport, Miss., and then completed a second tour at the Naval Personnel Command as Senior Meteorology and Oceanography Office Detailer, Assignment and Placement Officer and Community Manager.

Best graduated from the United States Naval Academy with a Bachelor of Science degree in oceanography. Other degrees include a Master of Science in meteorology and physical oceanography from the Naval Postgraduate School and, most recently, a Master of Science in National Security Strategy from the National War College. Best's awards include the Meritorious Service Medal with three gold stars; the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with Combat Distinguishing Device; Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with three gold stars and various campaign and unit ribbons. At the ceremony, Best commented, "I am very honored and proud to be given this tremendous opportunity. The Naval Oceanographic Office has the finest group of people in the Department of Defense. No one in the world does oceanography better than this Command. I look forward to guiding the organization in the challenging years ahead."

NAVOCEANO is comprised of nearly 1,200 military and civilian personnel. The Command has the responsibility for supplying oceanographic products and services to all elements of the Department of Defense. It uses a variety of platforms, including ships, aircraft and satellite sensors and buoys to collect oceanographic data from the world's oceans. These data are analyzed and disseminated in products that support the warfighter.

Robin Mason, a citizen of Waveland, is presented Friday with her certificate of appointment to the United States Merchant Marine Academy in King's Point, N.Y., by Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo. Mason was also presented with a certificate of achievement on behalf of the city council and the mayor.

Celebrating Our Independence Day

As we celebrate freedom is tasted, there's no our freedom going back. We hope they one day celebrate their own Independence Day.

We are seeing anti-American protests and propaganda right now in Europe and here, too, in our own movie theaters. Of course, the misguided malcontents who perpetuate these views are fairly far-out, likening America to a police or terrorist state. They use their freedom and independence to badmouth

America while curiously remaining mute about the real terrorists and dictators who kill for fun and whose nations denied so much to so many for so long. Truth is, America is far from a police state but is a coveted bastion of freedom where people have sought independence for generations. Millions left Europe for America in the 19th Century, and they stayed. The Berlin Wall was a one-way street. You didn't see people risking life and limb to go East. They were putting everything on the line to go West, toward America and freedom. Since America's earliest days, people have continued to flock here for unprecedented opportunities. That's really what we celebrate on July 4th - freedom's success.

Some people say our nation is almost evenly divided between conservatives and liberals. Republicans and Democrats and that the close margins and party-line Senate votes reflect that. Well, I take a different view. I think the country is more unified than many folks realize. Except for the very weird but wordy fringe who deny clear reality to make political points, most Americans

Be grateful for our freedom and pray for all our troops

Normally, the July 4th weekend is a big celebration for many families in this country.

This year, like last year, because of the Iraq war, Independence Day has a different meaning for many American families.

In some instances, families have lost members to the war's cause, while others have loved ones still in 'harm's way.'

Those of us who have not been closely touched by the Iraq war, really need to think about fellow Americans who have lost a family member, or have someone in uniform, far away from home.

Hopefully those away from their families this year will return to help celebrate July 4, 2005 at home.

This is the final day for the 2004 Annual Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival.

Activities begin at 11 a.m. with food available from noon until 7 p.m. Entertainment from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. is by Relative Unknowns and from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m., Shea Michaels Band with events closing at 10 p.m. I have been told there are still many very good foods available, just all types of seafoods and many of the popular local favorites.

The OLG Crab Fest is on the church grounds, 228 S. Beach, Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

There even is a Kiddie Land for the younger generation.

The festival includes all types of arts & crafts booths, a flower booth and even Cotton Candy.

I hope to see you this afternoon at the Crab Fest.

Today is also the last day of the four-day Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

Thousands of anglers have been out trying to catch the biggest fish in many saltwater and freshwater divisions.

The top winners will be named this evening at the rodeo's headquarters at the Rice Pavilion on Highway 90 at 49 in Gulfport.

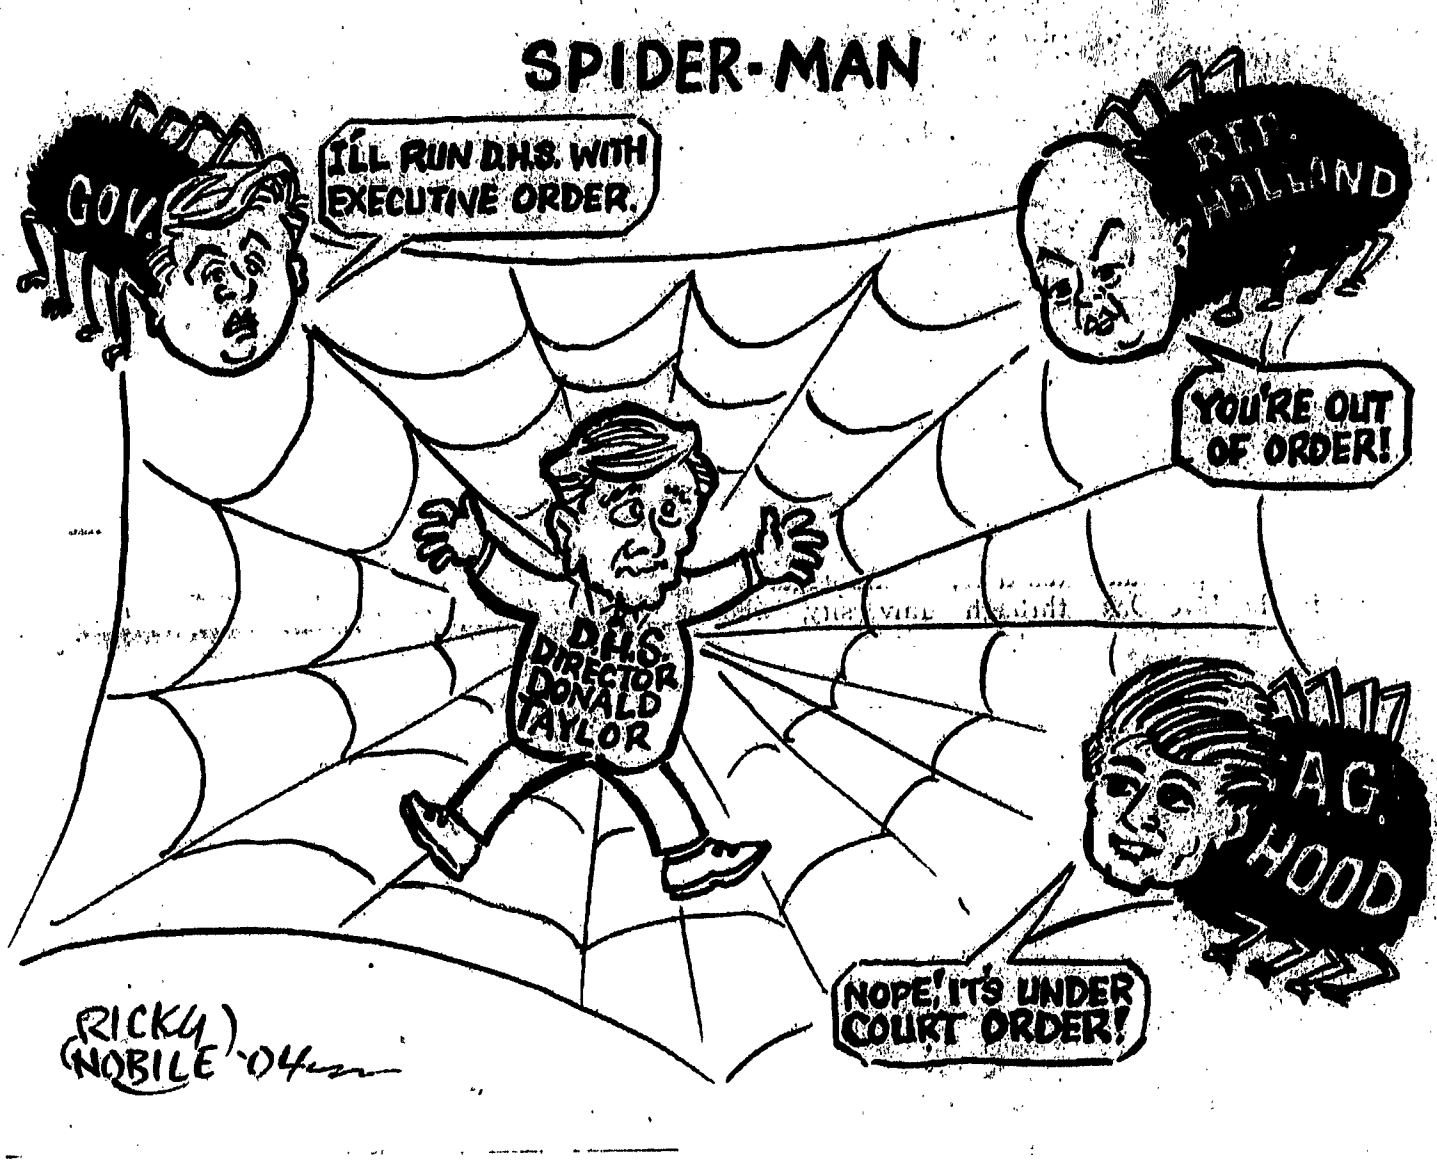

Many folks just come out to see the spectacular fish and enjoy the free entertainment.

Awarding of the final prizes is scheduled for 7 p.m.

It should be an exciting time at the fishing rodeo this evening.

Keep our bay beautiful, please

As a former Corps of Engineers officer involved in the permitting process, and one who has been directly involved in both hazardous and non-hazardous waste remediation for 25 years, and one who owns his own non-hazardous waste disposal site and deep well injection facility -- I feel more than qualified to address the potential issuance of a Section 404 permit to DuPont for their DeLisle site which would allow them to destroy 32 acres of wetlands.

There are several mitigating circumstances that directly impact on the DuPont request for a permit to create another impoundment.

1. A complete Environmental Impact Statement has not been completed (at this writing). This alone is sufficient to warrant refusal of a Section 404 Permit. A generator with a history of environmental problems should be forced to complete an EIS before moving into the permitting process. That is not the case.

2. Several alternatives exist for the construction of a 32 acre pit to hold dewatered non-hazardous waste solids that are further from the St. Louis Bay estuary. The site selected by DuPont is convenient for their production capabilities and movement of waste but does not meet environmental safeguards because of its proximity to St. Louis Bay. The Bay is already considered a threatened waterway and any further spillage will only increase that threat.

3. Regulators have not forced DuPont to remediate the 23 other pits that exist on site. Why should they be allowed to create pit number 24, when the other impoundments have existed since the plant's inception in 1979 without any attempt to remediate and close them. I understand those impoundments were allowed with both Federal and State exemptions, but their mere existence is subject to scrutiny because they were uncontrolled from a regulatory standpoint. What is contained in those pits? Only the word of DuPont has been offered. As a former waste remediation engineer, I've found that in a situation such as the one at DuPont, where hazardous spills often occur, employees will dump anything in any nearby repository without regard to the potential consequences, totally disregarding chain-of-custody requirements. In short, people dump stuff anywhere when they can get away with it.

4. In the early years of DuPont production, multiple layer construction of impoundments was not mandatory, nor did the fabric used to line pits exist. Hence, the current older impoundments were construction of clay and that clay has fractured and is permitting percolation of liquids downward into the water table. DuPont admits a series of waste plumes exist beneath the plant, but insist those plumes have not left the property line. I submit it would take hundreds of monitoring wells to be drilled to make that determination. Contaminants have been found in drinking water nearby. Those contaminants do not exist in nature, so how did they get in the water supply?

5. A better solution to their disposal of non-hazardous solids would be to remediate older impoundments that no longer serve the production cycle and use that space to construct the facility in question rather than destroy more wetlands. The space currently under use for disposal should continue to serve that purpose rather than

Local teen receives honors at Isidore Newman School

For the second year in a row, Max Webster has received top academic awards at one of the most competitive schools in New Orleans. Webster, son of Sherrye and Kevin Webster, has maintained an A+ average and been placed on the First Honor Roll for two consecutive years. His grade point has been above 4.0 since he enrolled at Newman in 2002. This year he received the Second Honor Student Award, which signifies the 2nd highest grade point average in Newman's 8th grade class. Webster was also awarded the History Award. Last year he was recipient of the 7th grade highest GPA First Honor

Max Webster Student Award. In order to attend Newman from Bay Saint Louis, Max travels 100 miles round trip daily.

Vacation Bible School at Main St. Methodist

Vacation Bible School at Main Street United Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, will be held July 5-9 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon for children ages 4 through those who have completed 5th grade. This year's theme promises to be one of the best yet - Hero Quest, Powered By Faith. Instead of the fictional superheroes our children are so familiar with, Hero Quest will introduce them to real-life biblical heroes, ordinary people who did extraordinary things through their faith in God. Each day will be filled with Bible and mission stories, fun crafts, recreation, music, and much more. Registration will begin at 8:00 a.m. on Monday morning and a closing program will be at 11:30 a.m. on Friday in the Sanctuary. For additional information call the church office at 467-4588. Main Street United Methodist Church is located at the corners of Main and Second streets in downtown Bay St. Louis.

Lutheran Church of the Pines to host VBS

The Lutheran Church of the Pines, 309 Hwy 90, Waveland will hold a Vacation Bible School, "Blessed to be a Blessing", July 12-16 from 9:00 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. for ages 3 years to entering 6th grade. Pre-registration will be Sunday, July 11 from 2-4 p.m. and July 12 at 8:30 a.m. We will sponsor two missions, Gaits to Success and the Hancock Food Pantry. Gaits to Success is therapeutic horseback riding for children who are physically and cognitively challenged.

Order of the Eastern Star to meet

Bay Chapter No. 129 of the Order of the Eastern Star (OES) will hold their monthly meeting July 8th at 7:30 PM at the Masonic Lodge 125 Main St., Bay St. Louis, MS. Meal to follow.

SHEILA BEAUGEZ

Sheila Beaugez, a resident of Waveland, Mississippi, slipped into heavenly peace on Thursday, July 1, 2004.

Sheila was 45 years of age. She battled cancer for one year before the Lord called her home. Sheila graduated from D'Iberville High School in 1975. She went on to MSUW in Columbus and graduated in 1979, having obtained a BSW in Social Work. Sheila worked several different jobs from 70-91 before starting her career with the United States Post Office. She began as distribution clerk in 1981 moving on to management trainee in 1983. Sheila served as postmaster in Madison, MS in March 1985 through April 1996. She returned to the coast and was Supervisor of Customer Service in Pass Christian until the position of Postmaster became available in February 1993 and she took that position.

In May 2001, Sheila got the position of Manager of Post Office Operations, Jackson District and remained there until her passing. Sheila received numerous awards during her career, including: Suggestion Award Sept. 83, Letter of appreciation Feb. 64, Sick Leave Award Oct. 87, Certificate of appreciation Oct. 96, Special Achievement Award Oct. 98, Diversity Outstanding Team Player Award Fiscal Year 2002, Outstanding AMS Database Mississippi District Fiscal Year 2002 and Mississippi District Excellence Award, Best Performance Fiscal Year 2002, Merit performance evaluations in 1997, 1999, 2001, 2002, 2003, - rating "Par Exceeds." The Best of the Best Out of more than 8000 EAS employees in the Southeast Area, only 86 were recognized and invited to attend the 2003 awards Luncheon as outstanding achievers. Sheila was one of these employees. These employees represent the top 1% of outstanding achievers in our area.

Of these 86 award winners, 16 were recognized for outstanding for the second consecutive year, again Sheila was among the 16.

In fact Sheila was recognized for outstanding performance all three years that she held the position of Manager Post Office Operations for the South Area.

She was recognized for her sustained excellence and was considered one of the "Best of the Best." It was noted that Sheila's commitment to quality service helped to become a top five performer in Fiscal Year 2003.

Sheila was very active in the diversity Committee, constantly encouraging employee participation in diversity activities. She was assigned to number "ad-hoc" assignments throughout her Postal career including District Rural Timekeeping Instruction, Rural Delivery Instruction, City Delivery Instruction, Rural Route Adjuster, Mystery Shopper, Chairman of the Quality Improvement Team, co-chairman of the Metro FCC, participated in Community Leadership Program., 391 area coordinator for implementation of the Service in Five initiative.

Sheila's reputation as a knowledgeable manager was respected and she was frequently called upon by her fellow managers. Sheila was very active in Youth Sports in the Bay St Louis and Waveland area. She has coached baseball, football, soccer, and basketball. Sheila's two sons were usually on her team. She was a true mentor to many young athletes and she loved spending time at the fields. Sheila was a wonderful mother to Taylor Rosson and Hunter Beaugez.

The most important role in Sheila's life was being a Mom and making sure that her boys had a good education, good manners and lots of fun. She was a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church and St. Thomas Prayer Group.

Mrs. Beaugez was preceded in death by her father James Beaugez; maternal grandmother Marie Kriss; maternal grandfather Gustave Freshe; paternal grandmothers Eva Beaugez and Anna Beaugez; paternal grandfather Lawrence Beaugez.

She is survived by her sons Taylor Rosson and Hunter Beaugez both of Waveland; her mother Evelyn Beaugez of D'Iberville; sisters Eva Beaugez of D'Iberville, Barbara Galle and her husband Lex of D'Iberville, and Sandra Beaugez of Bay St. Louis; brother Gerald Beaugez of San Francisco; 4 nieces and nephews Stacy Curran and her husband Wayne of Saucier, Lex Galle, Jr. and his wife Melissa of Woolmarket, Amie Galle of Bay St. Louis, and Sheldon Galle of D'Iberville; and five great nieces and nephews Nicole Butcheit and Anthony Curran of Saucier, Patrick Galle and Alexis Galle of Woolmarket, and Savannah Galle of Bay St. Louis.

A Funeral Mass will be Monday July 3, 2004 at 11AM at St. Thomas Catholic Church in Long Beach.

Friends may visit one hour prior to the Mass. Burial will be in Biloxi City Cemetery. The family requests donations to St. Thomas Prayer Group, 720 East Beach Blvd. Long Beach, MS 39560, in lieu of flowers.

Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home on 15th Street in Gulfport is in charge of arrangements.

Unemployment particularly high in Mississippi

MISSISSIPPI'S unemployment rate was the highest in the nation last month, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Economic Analysis.

The state's unemployment rate was 14.6 percent in July.

Jefferson County was hit hardest with 20.2 percent unemployment.

Twelve counties posted unemployment rates of more than 10 percent. In addition to Jefferson County, they include Clay, Claiborne, Holmes, Leflore, Noxubee, Panola, Quitman, Sharkey, Tallahatchie, Washington and Yalobusha counties.

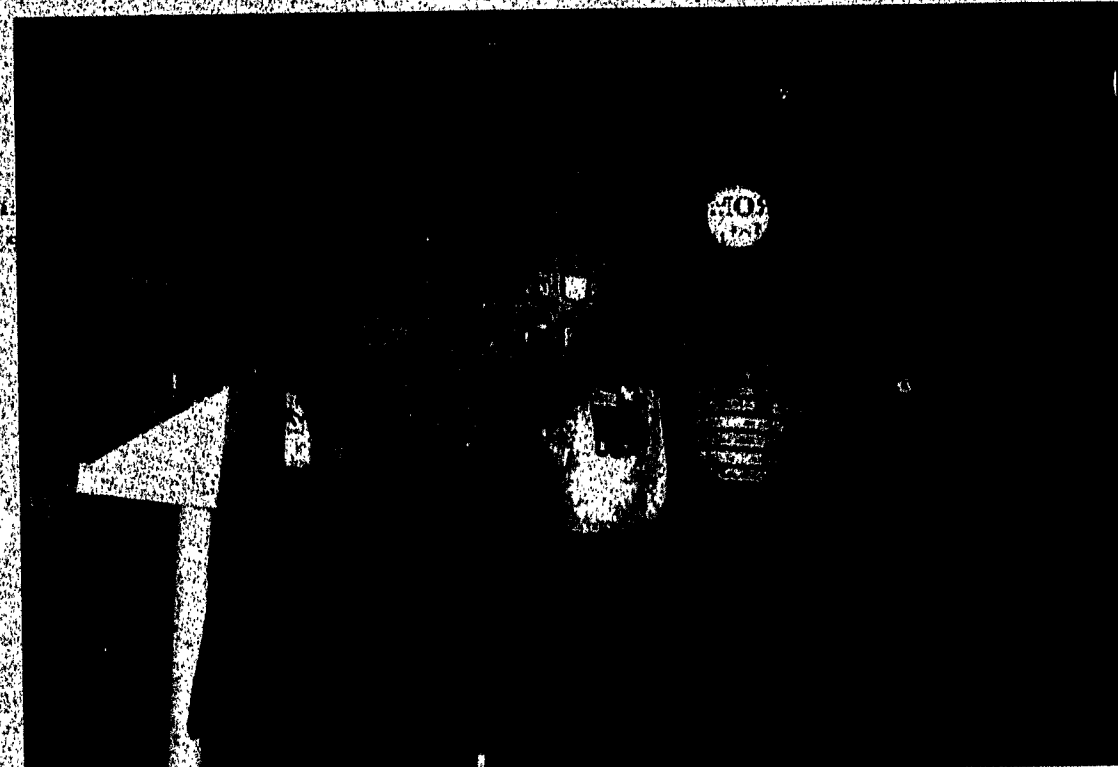

DeSoto, Jones, Lamar and Rankin counties had the lowest unemployment rates, with each posting less than 3.3 percent.

Mississippi paid more than $10.6 million in unemployment benefits last month. The average weekly benefit was $164.89.

Veterans honored

In an emotional ceremony, local veterans were honored by the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club at its annual banquet Thursday night. Those recognized included Cpt. Jlos J. Duckworth, left, who served in the U.S. Army during Operation Iraqi Freedom; Sergeant David Blanchard who served with the U.S. Marines during the first Gulf War; Richard R. Flowers who served as a combat medic for the U.S. Air Force during the Viet Nam War; Dr. Roy St. Amant Hinrichs who earned the Bronze Star Medal while serving on the front lines with the U.S. Army as a platoon leader during the Korean War; and Gene Monti, who served in the Army Air Force during World War II. Peoples increases dividend

The board of directors of Peoples Financial Corporation (NASDAQ Small Cap: PFBX), parent of The Peoples Bank, has increased the holding company's regular semiannual cash dividend 13.3% from $1.15 per common share to $1.30 per common share, payable July 14, 2004, to stockholders of record July 8, 2004.

The new dividend is now 70% higher than the $1.00 per share dividend paid by the company at the beginning of 2000. The dividend has been raised seven times in the last eight years dating back to 1997. The board last raised the company's dividend in January 2004.

Founded in 1896 with $596 million in assets as of March 31, 2004, The Peoples Bank operates 15 full-service branches and 39 ATMs along the Mississippi Gulf Coast in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Stone counties.

Peoples Financial Corporation is listed on the NASDAQ Small Cap Market under the symbol PFBX. Additional information is available on the Internet at www.thepeoples.com.

Strip Club -- hundreds attend hearing estimated that between 300 and 400 people turned out for the hearing.

Of the dozens of people who spoke, only two spoke in favor of the proposal, saying that it was a form of entertainment that many people enjoyed.

Church and private groups presented seven petitions containing around 1,700 names of people opposing the proposal. Speakers who said they represented other groups, such as the 250-plus members of the Knights of Columbus and the 800 members of the Bayou Talla community, voiced their opposition to the proposal.

Gillespie told the Planning and Zoning Board that his clients had done their best to choose a location for the club that would be in an isolated area. Gillespie said activities such as those proposed at the club already occur in the county uncontrolled, though he did not elaborate. By building the club, those activities could be controlled, he said. The club proposes to offer nude dancing.

"You have a problem on your hands, a big problem, a political hot potato," said

Owners of Magnolia 1, Inc. listen to comments about their proposed strip club at a public hearing at the Hancock County Civic Center Thursday. From left are Jeffrey Jacoby, Kristine Ladner, Kirk Ladner and Emmett Notard, all of Diamondhead.

Gillespie. "This is a legal activity, maybe not popular ... unpopular activities have a right to go on in our society. Just because you don't like it does not mean that it does not have a place in Hancock County."

Pastor of the Word of Faith Christian Fellowship Tyrone Dastugue questioned the remote location of the club.

"If we are even considering doing something like this why don't we put it in the center of town ... on Main St. or in your neighborhood," he said.

Dastugue said that unless the board and the investors considered the business suitable for those locations, it shouldn't go anywhere to all have out there want to put Dastugue said.

Many who spoke in opposition mentioned increased crime and the introduction of prostitution as reasons they said would make the area a bad business.

John Caplinger of Kiln said that when he moved into his home it was in an isolated area. Caplinger said that since then dozens of upscale, expensive homes have been built in the area.

"Those homes would not be there if this club had been built there," said Caplinger.

Deputy Grand Marshall of the Knights of Columbus Herbert Young said this type of business would downgrade the quality of life in the community and undermine the efforts by the Chamber of Commerce and local officials to upgrade the area.

"All of our members stand opposed," said Young.

Many others, such as Bayou Talla Pastor Mike Wills offered statistics from studies on increased crime activity that came as a result of the introduction of sexually-oriented business.

"I am speaking for my five daughters," said Maddox. "What kind of a message would I be sending to my children if I were to stand idly by and not voice my opinion ... Mr. Gillespie spoke of controlling this activity, but if it's not here we won't have to control it, and if it is here why would we want to increase it?"

Ed Young appealed to the investors.

"I know that I am supposed to direct my comments to the board ... but this is not a good thing and I hope the folks who want the gentlemen's club realize that the community does not want it and do the honorable thing and move on down the road," Young said.

Schools -- Hancock goes electronic

menting "paperless," or purely electronic board meetings.

"We approved the purchase of the necessary hardware for electronic board meetings at the June 3rd meeting," Ladner said. "I believe the only software we needed is software to create

PDF files. The paperwork that is generated on a computer program can be placed directly onto the agenda. Any paperwork that is not created on a computer is scanned into a PDF file which is then placed onto the agenda."

The board's agenda will now be available for public perusal at the district's website at <http://www.hancock.k12.ms.us>.

Ladner said there will be other features on the website as well.

"In addition to the board agendas, we also plan to have the minutes from each meeting on the website and the dates of future board meetings. At the present time, parents can find the new dress code, the school calendar and school supply lists for the 2004-2005 school year on the website. Soon, the handbooks for next year will be on the site as well."

Other business handled at this meeting included the approval of the budget for the 2004-05 school year. The board voted 7 to approve the next year's budget of $3.3 million.

Among other items on the agenda was a proposal to close several of the district's Summer Feeding Program sites.

This program, which aimed to provide free breakfast and lunch to any child 18 or under in the district, is cutting back because children have simply not been attending many of the schools providing food.

Ladner said.

"Several sites are now closed due to a lack of participation. The sites where the Summer Feeding Program is closed are Hancock North Central, Gulfview, and Charles B. Murphy."

According to the district's website, summer feeding for breakfast and lunch will remain open at Hancock Middle School in Kiln during July 1-July 23. The school will be closed on Monday, July 5, in observance of Independence Day.

Superintendent David Kopf said that the June 30 closing is usually normal.

"Generally, what we've done in the past is close June 30," Kopf said. "We planned keep all programs open until July 23 this year (instead of just Hancock Middle). Due to lack of participation, it just wasn't warranted."

Festival

Catholic Church.

The festival closes today at 9 p.m. All day long, there will be live music, games and amusement park-style rides for the kids.

Pam Metzler, chair of the festival said the festival provided an excellent family atmosphere. Even though the festival is put on by OLG, Metzler said that everyone, regardless of religion, shows up to pitch in, and have a good time.

Hancock County citizens and officials alike cooperated to make the festival possible, Metzler said. Among the officials present were Bay Mayor Eddie Favre, Hancock County Supervisor Steve Seymour, and Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil.

Jerry West, one of the volunteers manning the boiled seafood station, said he and his group expected to boil more than 6,000 crabs before the weekend was over.

Shannon Kelly, a native of Jackson, said she was down on vacation for the 4th of July weekend, and friends in the area recommended the festival.

"It's really a lot of fun," she said.

Alexey Parshikov, an international student from Moscow, said he attended the festival for "fun and games."

"I do not normally like the fishes," he said. "But here, they are very good."

7th Annual Blast in the Bay July 10 at Depot

Rev your engines, polish your fenders and get to Depot early Saturday, July 10 for the 7th Annual Blast in the Bay to support the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund. Classic, street rod and "don't fit in any category" cars and trucks are welcome to register for the top ten awards presented by the Firemen and the many sponsor awards for participants.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. with a $15 donation for each vehicle entered. Trailers are not allowed on the show site. Personal and car club friends of the firemen will be helping with registration and event activities, including the very popular Hot Dog Heaven.

Bay Saint Louis artist Janise McCardle of Clay Creations has adapted many of her local scene ceramic plaques to be presented in the top ten awards, including Peoples Choice, Mayor's Choice, and the Fire Chief's Choice. "We are so happy that Ms. McCardle wanted to participate and help us continue giving unique awards different from those received at any other car show," said

Chief Bobby Gavagnie.

The city's firemen have sponsored the Fireman's Doll and Toy fund for more than 26 years, beginning under the direction of retired Chief Andrew Lizana. It has grown from its humble beginnings of repairing used toys for distribution to needy children of Bay Saint Louis to serve the needs of children from throughout Hancock County.

Annually the Fund averages helping more than 700 children, giving as donations allow, three gifts and stockings for each child. Every child receives a stuffed animal and other age appropriate gifts.

"Bay Saint Louis is a generous community and we appreciate the hundreds of people who help us during the year reach our goals for the children. The Blast in the Bay is our single largest fundraiser, so we really need the support of car owners and viewers. Anyone wishing to make a donation to the fund can do so at the Blast," said Chief Gavagnie.

Fishermen think they are the only fishermen. Well, they're not. They share the waters with others who, while are not strictly "fishermen," have an equally strong interest in catching fish. However, they have an incentive that your average rod and reel doesn't have, they do it for a living. Let me correct that, they do it to stay alive.

To the fisherman sitting casting his line from his boat, the expansive reaches of the water around him presents a tranquil scene that one of the basic reasons for his being there he is. It is a deceptive tranquility.

A pelican, dropping hard into the water, sends up a bright white splash and then takes off immediately, having missed his attempt at lunch. To the man in the boat, such a "got away" would not be earth shattering, but to the pelican it's different. He's hungry and what he is trying to catch is essential to his survival.

If we look at the scene from the view point of the diving pelican rather than the relaxed fisherman in the boat, its surface tranquility cloaks what is really an endless basic struggle of organisms striving to continue their own existence, to reproduce and eventually to die. All our lives we see this eternal struggle all about us and become jaded and ignore it. But it is there.

I once spent a month in the Pacific Ocean aboard a small research vessel. As an ex-helmsman, I spent my off hours on the bridge looking out at the water and talking to the watch standers. There are many places to be on a ship that will allow one to appreciate the beauty of the ocean, but the isolated quiet of the bridge on a long watch is the best.

There were on the ship two "bird men" who stood day watches. Their work was to classify and count the sea birds that they saw. They meticulously logged their sightings and later

LIGHT FOR A SHADY WALK - The colorful-leaved caladiums give a lush, cool, tropical feeling to any part of the landscape, and light up areas like this shady garden sidewalk.

Caladiums showing out after summer rainfall

Southern Gardening

The past few weeks of plentiful rain have made everyone wish they had planted caladiums. They are showing out with unbelievable beauty. Earlier you might have planted tubers, but you still can get started by purchasing nursery-grown transplants.

These colorful-leaved tubers give a lush, cool, tropical feeling to both sunny and shady parts of the landscape. The wide variety of colors can make selections seem mind-boggling.

The caladium is known botanically as Caladium bicolor and is in the family Araceae, with well-known relatives philodendron, aglaonema and dieffenbachia. They are native to tropical America.

Caladiums will produce their colorful foliage until late fall in fertile, organic-rich soil. Fancy-leaved types produce larger elephant ear-shaped leaves and are very striking.

If you haven't tried the strapped-leaf types, you are missing what just may be the best. I admit at first I was reluctant to try them because their leaves were so different than the fancy-leaved types. The strapped-leaf caladiums produce

smaller leaves, but they have many more of them

PATH: 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of Cure'

THE SA COAST ECHO

Protecting youth from the health dangers associated with tobacco and alcohol use are at the top of the list for a nonprofit group in Hancock County. PATH, The Partnership for a Healthy Hancock and Pearl River Counties, the local affiliate of The Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi, provides prevention and educational programs for youth in grades K-12, as well as college. They also organize cessation programs for the general public.

Gloria Necaise program director, says it's important for the public to know that these programs are available for Mississippians of all ages. From serving as a team sponsor or implementing lessons in the classroom to leading cessation support meetings, there are numerous opportunities for adults and youth to become a part of The Partnership.

"The prevention programs we offer for youth provide comprehensive activities, from the classroom to the community," said Necaise. "Our programs provide five resources for educators and community leaders to use with youth in grades K-12. Churches, schools, law enforcement and community groups can take advantage of these free resources that offer activities and classroom lessons designed to help children build good decision-making skills."

Because the most effective way to prevent tobacco use is to work with children before they start smoking. The Partnership provides educational program for youth as young as kindergarten age. However, in an effort to provide support and education to help children avoid peer pressure, as they grow older, The Partnership has implemented programs that follow youth through adolescence and onto college campuses throughout the state.

Reject All Tobacco (RAT) is a program designed for grades K-3. Students Working Against Tobacco (SWAT) reaches youth in grades 4-6. Allies, a peer-helping program, is designed for grades 7-8. Frontline, an advocacy-based program is available for teens in grades 9-12.

The classroom lessons are enhanced by activities that allow youth to form teams and participate in monthly programs. Youth and adults receive activity manuals and incentive prizes for participating. All program materials are provided free of charge to anyone who wants to get involved.

Students on college campuses throughout the state can also take advantage of free cessation help and get involved in on-campus coalitions.

"Children need activities that are fun and educational," Necaise says. "The programs that we offer teach children how to make healthy lifestyle decisions that will help them avoid tobacco, alcohol and other drugs."

The Hancock County Human Resource Agency is the local sponsoring organization for the PATH program.

For more information about the educational resources available through The Partnership for a Healthy Hancock and Pearl River County (PATH), please call Gloria Necaise, Program Director at (228) 586-2690.

per plant and hold color four to six weeks longer. Dwarf straggled-leaf selections are perfect for mixed containers.

In late spring, plant smaller tubers 5 to 6 inches apart and larger ones 8 to 10 inches apart. Plant them shallowly in a well-drained, organic-rich bed. Container-grown caladiums that are available now can be planted 10 to 12 inches apart and at the same depth as the container soil line.

Caladiums can add bright spots of summertime color in front of green shrubbery or light a shady area. They even work great in planters. To achieve the best landscape effects, bed many plants of the same cultivar together.

I also have seen some good displays where many varieties were massed together for a really colorful show. They are especially striking when grown around pools or water gardens where the water reflects their bright colors. Try planting complementary colors of caladiums and impatiens together. For instance, try White Queen caladiums, which are green and white with red margins, combined with red impatiens. They also can be planted with groundcover under large trees to give an attractive display. If you have pink-flowered crape myrtles, choose a caladium that has that same color in the leaf and plant it around the tree.

Even though many varieties are sun tolerant, I prefer to plant caladiums in partial shade or areas with morning sun and afternoon shade.

Research done years ago at the Dallas Arboretum proved that many varieties are much more sun tolerant than previously thought. Some sun tolerant varieties are Red Flash, Fire Chief, Candidum and White Queen.

You will have the best success by planting in raised beds rich in compost and organic matter. Your goal is to produce colorful foliage, so clip any flowers as they start to develop.

Mother Nature has supplied us with an abundance of rainfall as of late, but when we hit the inevitable dry spells, water the caladiums deeply and often throughout the summer.

It is possible to save the tubers for next year, but it takes some effort. Once the short days of fall begin and the leaves start to droop, clip the vegetation and dig up the tubers. Let them dry for a week and then dust them with a fungicide. Store the tubers in dry peat, sawdust or kitty litter until the following spring. It is best to keep the tubers from touching each other.

Caladiums are an exceptionally good value for the long season of color they provide. Get some this weekend.

Seymours stand 'The Test of Time'

Beryl Eileen Seymour and Huland Seymour have been married for fifty years this June.

Happiness is something that everyone dreams of and this couple is absolutely no exception. They were both natives of Biloxi Mississippi when they were married on June 4, 1954.

At the time of marriage she was seventeen and he was twenty-three. The two were married in St. John's Catholic church in Biloxi. Eileen recalls her wedding as being a simple ceremony with only close family. Her reception however was extremely large and filled with all walks of life at that time.

When asked what it felt like to have managed fifty years of a successful marriage she explained that "It just doesn't seem like it's been fifty years already. Time just seems to fly by."

They have three daughters and are now residents of Waveland Mississippi, they spend their time enjoying the quiet life of the town.

Huland recalls on their wedding day he wore blue suede shoes and a blue suit. Eileen wore an elegant homemade cathedral lace gown. Much of their ceremony was very classical. Making it to fifty years is quite an accomplishment and her answer to how to make a marriage last that long she simply smiled and said, "You can't understand until you walk a mile in my moccasins."

Every marriage is different but the lock in the Seymour family is secure and these two plan on many more years filled with happiness.

A representative from the Pursel Corporation, managers of Diamondhead, has made similar appeal. The supervisors agreed to speed limits of 5 miles per hour for inner canals in Shoreline Park and for areas at Diamondhead including the waterway off Rotten Bayou and from Cutoff Bayou to the yacht harbor.

A 10-mile-per-hour limit was set for the Jordan River upstream of the Highway 603 bridge.

June 30, 1944 - Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fayard are in receipt of a message from the War Department saying their son Second Lieutenant Fred Fayard, Jr., Army Air Force, has been missing in action since June 11 over Rumina.

Lt. Fayard was a naviga-

Nearing his 64th birthday, Alfred Besancon, veteran of the Franco Prussian War 1870-71, sits alone in his home he built in 1903 and grieves for his gallant 85 year old son, Alfred Besancon, Jr., who was killed in Italy in May of this year giving his life that we may in America may be free. The younger man entered the service of the Army more than a year ago and was a member of the Infantry Regiment of the 85th Infantry Division, of the first all-selective service divisions to go into combat.

It is believed he was killed on the Asplan Way. The old man recalls with pride his son was fighting the same foe his father fought but has accepted the news of his death as final. Mr. Besancon was born in St. Louis. Here he had a part in the building of the Torch smelting plant and later worked under ex-mayor Charles Traub, Sr. when pipes were laid for the new water system. His daughter by his first marriage is Mrs. Phillip Adam of Cedar Point and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Wedge of California whose husband is in the Navy and a son Joseph Besancon of New Orleans.

The young soldier leaves a wife and young son. The old soldier has a radio, but the War news means less to him now and he finds it difficult to read but he lives with his memories and waits for the time when peace shall again be in our world and his daughter will come home.

Views -- we're all fishermen

plotted them on charts and graphs to determine the distribution and migratory habits of ocean birds in the part of the ocean we were studying.

The men were ex-commercial fishermen of Japanese-descent. Birds are an important aspect of the type of fishing these men had been used to doing. What kind of birds they see, and most importantly what these birds are feeding on, tell the fishermen where best to fish.

This is especially true of birds on the horizon. In their comparatively slow-moving fishing boats, the fishermen's knowing that the fishing may be a little better four or five miles away can be important. Still, I was suspicious of the ease at which our two bird watchers identified birds at what to me seemed impossible distances.

"What are those birds

there?" I asked George one day on the port wing of the bridge. He came over to where I stood and I pointed out to him what looked to me to be four black specks on the distant horizon.

George looked for a moment with his glasses. "Those are three stormy petrels, six Captain Cooks and two black terns."

I called to the birdman on the opposite wing of the bridge. "Yamamoto, could you come here for a second?" Yamamoto came, glanced at George who shrugged.

"What are those birds there?" I asked.

He brought his glasses up, looked for a few seconds and then said, "Those are three stormy petrels, six Captain Cooks and, I think yes, there are two black terns."

Before I could make some flabbergasted remark on this, George pointed out to something in the water on our port beam. "There's a tree," he yelled and ran inside the bridge.

In seconds, the first mate came running outside and looked. He smiled happily and, tooting the ship's horn to alert the crew, quickly ordered the ship to come about and head for what even I could now see was the floating trunk of a gigantic tree.

On the lower decks I could hear a great deal of bustle, with many of the crew running aft. The mate turned over the watch to his second and, motioning me to follow him, joined the rush to the fantail.

I later calculated the log to be about 25 feet long and 6 feet in diameter. It was the remnant of a large tree that had grown for a century or so in some forest in western South America. During a long ago storm, it had fallen into some raging river that had carried it to the Coast and dumped it into the ocean. There, equatorial currents had carried the trunk some thousand plus miles to this remote section of the Pacific Ocean we were studying.

Small organisms had attached themselves to the tree as it drifted; other organisms had fed off these as well as slowly falling pieces of the decaying tree. Swimmers fed on these feeders in turn and beyond were larger feeders until at the periphery of all of these were the large wolves of the sea, Mahi Mahi.

Thus, the tree floated, carried by the ocean currents far from any land, a self-contained ecosystem in which creature lived on creature in an endless self-perpetuating cycle.

Our ship circled the log with several trawl lines dragging from the stern and soon, amid loud cheers of the onlookers, several of the crew hauled up on the deck the flipping, glistening bodies of a half dozen five-foot long Mahi Mahi.

The mate advanced on one and using a baseball bat momentarily stilled its struggles. Reaching down with a fish knife, he cut off a strip of the still quivering fish and, since I was a guest on the ship, courteously handed the raw flesh to me to eat first. I took the offering and ate it, realizing as I did so that in reality, we on that deck were no different than the fishing birds we had counted on the horizon or these same Mahi Mahi that had circled the log a short time before.

In truth, fishermen are not the only fishermen. In many ways, we are all fishermen.

Interested in learning the art of clogging? You know, the American folk dance where the dancers do not use their arms?

Well, here's your chance. Ruth Oliver of the Diamondhead Dance Club will be teaching a clogging class on Tuesday, July 13, from 10 to 11 a.m. in the meeting room at the Waveland Public Library. More information is available by calling Oliver at 255-3477.

AT CHALMETTE, NURSING IS OUR BADGE OF HONOR.

Mary Adubato, RN, Case Manager at CMC, personifies the word "volunteer." Her time away from work is spent in service to others in her community. Mary has been a Red Cross volunteer since 1995, performing glucose and blood pressure screenings. She also teaches First Aid and Sports Safety to public school coaches and teachers, and she teaches First Aid and CPR to professional groups and community members.

But Mary doesn't stop there... she also manages to save time for instructing pet owners in animal CPR!

Mary Adubato's commitment reaches into her community and touches lives. We're glad that she is part of our nursing team at Chalmette Medical Center. We're proud of all of our CMC nurses... because their gift of caring continues long after their hospital shift ends.

If you're that one-of-a-kind nurse, we would like you to consider becoming a part of our dedicated group of nurses at CMC.

For more information, please call (504) 620-7202.

AT METHODIST, NURSING IS OUR BADGE OF HONOR.

Natalie Norman, RN, BSN, CCE, is OB Care Manager for the Women's Center at Methodist Hospital. For Natalie, helping others is a way of life. Her hours are filled with volunteer activities, including working with the Society of St. Vincent de Paul to feed the homeless and with J-HELP (Jefferson Parish Sheriff's Office program) to provide used cell phones to senior citizens for emergencies.

Natalie works with the Metropolitan Battered Women's Program and coordinates the annual firemen's memorial mass and reception. She also gives time to her church as a Eucharistic minister.

Natalie Norman is deeply committed to raising the quality of life in her community. It's an honor to have her as part of our nursing team. We're proud of all of our Methodist nurses... because their gift of caring continues long after their hospital shift ends.

If you're that one-of-a-kind nurse, we would like you to consider becoming a part of our dedicated group of nurses at Methodist.

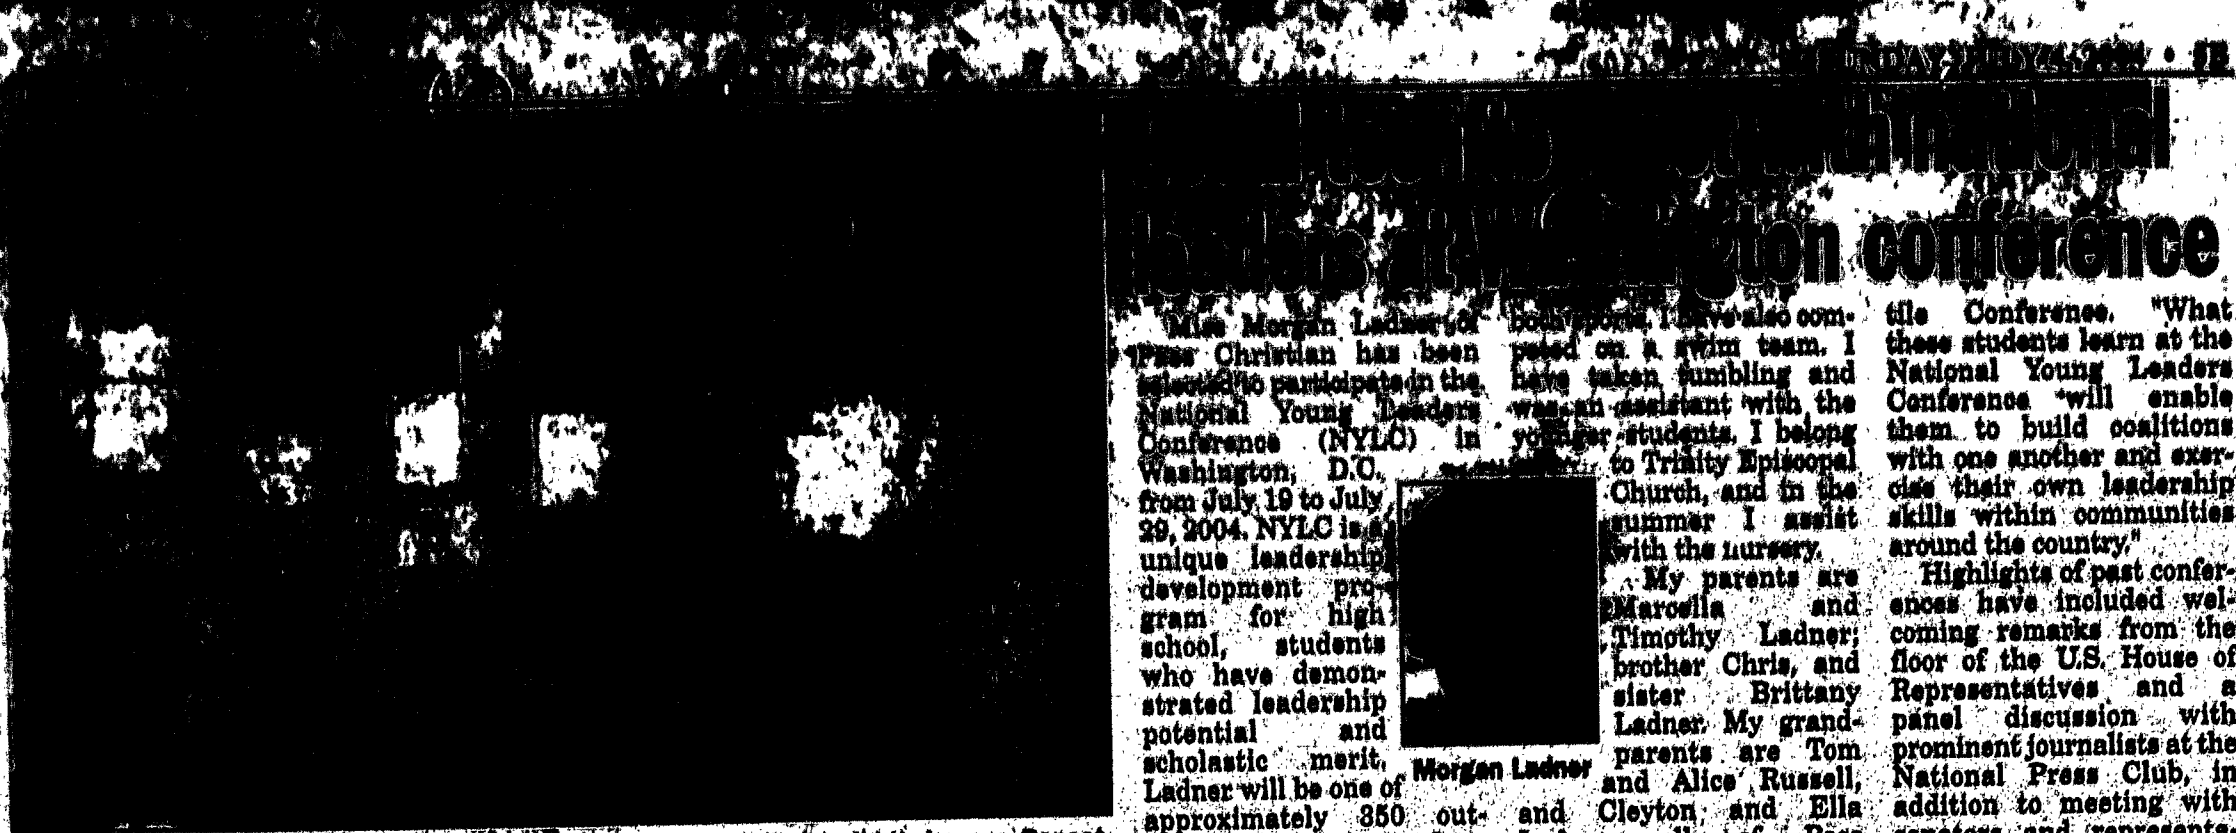

For more information, please call (504) 244-5443.

OLA delegation at Youth Assembly earns recognition

THE SEA COAST ECHO Forty-two Our Lady Academy junior high delegates and three Student Advisors attended the 27th Junior Youth Assembly Session held in Jackson in early April.

OLA earned the two top awards at JYA: Ashley Derenbecker, 8th grade, was named the Most Outstanding Legislator (the overall best); and Victoria Romano, freshman, was recognized as the Outstanding Chairperson.

The only other nominee in the category for Outstanding Chairperson was Leah Tucker, also an OLA freshman.

Two OLA students were named Outstanding Senators: Ashley Derenbecker and Katherine Lobrano, both 8th grade. Four students were named Outstanding Representatives: Ansley Blalock and Lauren Poncet, 8th grade; and Hillary Goodfellow and Cady Reinhart, 7th grade.

Five OLA Bills were signed into laws. They were: HB 18 by Amy Gemelli and Alyssa Walter, freshmen; HB 30 by Katherine Lobrano and Olivia Hoff, 8th grade; SB 10 by Kathryn McDonald and Lauren Poncet, 8th grade; SB 2 by Leah Tucker and Ali Phares, freshmen; and SB 34 by Kathleen McKissack and Leah Seal, 7th grade.

Miss Morgan Ladner of Pass Christian has been selected to participate in the National Young Leaders Conference (NYLC) in Washington, D.C. from July 19 to July 29, 2004. NYLC is a unique leadership development program for high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit. Ladner will be one of approximately 350 outstanding scholars from around the country at the Conference.

Pass Christian has been selected on a team. I have also competed on a swim team. I have taken tumbling and was an assistant with the younger students. I belong to Trinity Episcopal Church, and in the summer I assist with the nursery. My parents are Marcella and Timothy Ladner; brother Chris, and sister Brittany Ladner. My grandparents are Tom and Alice Russell, and Clayton and Ella Ladner, all of Pass Christian.

Ladner was nominated by her teacher Mrs. Melissa Mannion. This nomination is based on strong leadership qualities and academic excellence, including a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. I am honored to represent Pass Christian High School, our school district, the City of Pass Christian and the State of Mississippi.

Currently, I am on the student council, and was recently elected Junior Class Vice President. I am a member of Mu Alpha Theta Honor Society. On Wednesdays, I tutor students in mathematics. I am a cheerleader and fastpitch softball letterman. For the 2003-2004 season, I was named Scholar Athlete for the Conference. "What these students learn at the National Young Leaders Conference will enable them to build coalitions with one another and exercise their own leadership skills within communities around the country."

Highlights of past conferences have included welcoming remarks from the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives and a panel discussion with prominent journalists at the National Press Club, in addition to meeting with senators and representatives or appointed staff members to discuss important issues facing the nation.

To complement the schedule of special meetings and briefings, Ladner will also participate in a number of leadership skill-building activities and simulations. In one role-play activity titled If I Were President, students act as the president and cabinet members responding to an international crisis. Students also participate in Testing the Constitution, in which they examine actual Supreme Court cases. The Conference culminates with the Model Congress, in which scholars assume the roles of U.S. Representatives, and debate, amend and vote on proposed mock legislation.

DeWitt Insurance,
A service oriented Insurance provider

DeWitt Insurance Agency is a full service independent agency that offers personal lines, commercial lines and financial services. DeWitt can provide you with quality service at competitive premiums to tailor your insurance needs.

The DeWitt Insurance traditions began in 1956 when Edgar A. DeWitt Sr. established his company in Springfield, Georgia. The agency moved to Rincon, a bedroom community of Savannah, Georgia in 1970 where Edgar's son, Al, purchased and managed the company until his untimely death in 1997. Al's wife, Lenda, continued as Agency Principal until 2002, when C. DeWayne Ladner, a native of Hancock County, became the Agency Owner and Principal. The Georgia home office insures over 4000 clients and represents over 50 companies.

In October 2002, DeWitt Insurance opened a branch office in Diamondhead to bring to the community an independent insurance agency. Ladner wanted a business with the same small community values that he grew up with, where a handshake means something, neighbors help neighbors, and a hard day's work is something to be proud of. His goal is to grow this company by quality service, competitive pricing, community involvement, and listening to our clients insurance needs and acting on them.

The office is managed by his father, Clifford L. Ladner, a native of Hancock county who is helping his son expand his goals and aspirations. Ladner and son are registered representatives with W.H. Colson Securities, Inc., and sell all types of IRAs and Investments, which are funded through Mutual Funds and Annuities.

The Diamondhead agency now has a service staff of two and five sales agents who work and live between Piquette, Poplarville, and Diamondhead. The Agency represents secure companies, which are rated by AM Best Company, who is the leading provider of ratings, news, data, and financial information for the global insurance industry since 1899.

DeWitt is a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Diamondhead Business and Professional Association, Home Builders Association of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and the Independent Insurance Agents of Mississippi. Call today, 255-6575 for quality service and competitive rates. Hours of operation are 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. We welcome you to stop by for a cup of coffee and shop your insurance needs at our location, 4322 Park Ten Drive, Diamondhead or visit us online at www.DeWitt-Insurance.com.

What a beacon for married couples!

Give it all up! the teenage thug demanded at the top of his voice.

"What are you talking about?" countered 94-year-old Hester Butler Vaughn, frowning defiantly with all the disgust and disdain of someone contemptuously swatting a fly.

Shocked down to his filthy socks, the frightened young ne'er-do-well rocked back on his heels, stared the formidable matriarch in the face, then took off immediately and posthaste for safer territory, never to be heard from again.

In cases like these, of which there are entirely too many, one of my prime speculations is that the juvenile criminal aggressor sees the reflection of his own grandmother in the mien and overall bearing of the matriarch he is challenging and threatening. At any rate, the usual consequence seems to be that the young thug comes completely undone.

When she told the story of that ugly little encounter, Hester Butler Vaughn was midway through her remarks at the spectacular celebration of hers and Percy Vaughn, Sr.'s seventy-fifth wedding anniversary. She simply had everyone eating out of her hand.

Leon, one of the ten children, had invited me to be there and to participate on that Sunday afternoon. What a wonderful blessing that invitation proved to be, especially seeing how they molded the celebration around a rousing, ringing gospel musical at the Gentilly Presbyterian Church. Their church, Berean Presbyterian Church, was too small.

As usual, Leon was the star of musical stars as he led us through the delirium of joy and abandon in our giving thanks, praise, worship, honor and glory to God for gifting the Vaughn family and us all with the live example of a priceless couple, Hester and Percy.

My nickname for Leon is "God's Joyful Troubadour; for he is surely the happiest singer and instrumen-talist I have ever met. Constantly flashing his ivories with a broad grin, he sings every song with incredible gusto and exuberance, often bouncing up from the organ with hands waving and body gyrating to a holy rhythm of prayer and heartfelt joy.

Here at St. Augustine Church, we always do upbeat funerals, for they are supposed to be celebrations of another God-fearing soldier bound for heaven. Invariably, the most Spirit-filled funerals are those at which Leon is our musician and vocalist. Naturally, all this is a great credit to Percy and Hester Vaughn, Sr., just as the other nine children are a credit to them. The children are all fine fruit who express by their own strong Christian lives the many virtues of those two wonderful trees, Hester and Percy.

Psalms 128 was written especially for them: "Happy are all who fear the Lord, who walk in the ways of God. What your hands provide you will enjoy; you will be happy and prosper. Like a fruitful vine your wife within your home, like olive plants your children around your table. Just so will they be blessed who fear the Lord."

The same thought was summed up by Jesus centuries later in Matthew 7:17: "Every good tree bears good fruit, and a rotten tree bears bad fruit. A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, so by their fruits you will know them."

Hester and Percy are still enjoying the fruit of their legendary scores of years of love and labor. Dolores, Josephine, Shirley, Winnie, Esther, Percy, Jr., Herbert, Leon, Milton, Malcolm and Michael.

As I walked into the Gentilly Presbyterian Church, I recognized many friends from various walks of life and from a variety of religious denominations. This sundry, happy crowd of itself was a living testimonial to the ecumenical, universal outreach, attraction and loving relationship of Percy and Hester with numerous families around the town.

Just imagine, folks! Seventy-five years of marriage, and not just marriage, but of marital bliss together with a bump or two here and there! The average American is most fortunate and blessed just to live for seventy-five years altogether. Since it is in their financial interest, the insurance companies keep close tabs on our average lifespan.

Psalms 90:10 assures us: "Seventy is the sum of our years, or eighty if we are strong." The Good Book could have just as well continued: "Ninety, if we are incredible, and ninety-four, ninety-eight or beyond, if we are completely out of the box."

Respectively at ninety-four and ninety-eight, Hester and Percy are totally out of the box, and still looking ahead to other frontiers beyond the horizon. All the blessings of the patriarchs and matriarchs of the Old Testament find full realization in this couple.

What a stark contrast with someone like Brittany Spears, who went through the motions of the travesty of a bogus marriage for some twenty-four hours! Ditto for so many stars who trivialize love and the sacrament of matrimony by making the buzz of sex and falling in love the linchpin of their relationship before and after a so-called marriage.

Nevertheless, despite all the negative input of the alleged "beautiful people" of Hollywood and show business in general, what a beacon for people in love and for married couples, both struggling and not, Percy and Hester have turned out to be!

Confined to the hospital after a mild heart attack, Percy was unable to participate in the high-powered jubilee. But, her clear memory seemingly untouched by the ravages of time, Hester concluded her dynamic remarks with the wry and oh-so-loving observation: "If I had my life to live all over again, I would still make the same choice of Percy Vaughn."

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Care for lost people as much as lost pets

This writer had an experience in which a truth was revealed to me.

I was at a shopping center where I saw the "dog catcher" had a sizable dog in a cage. I looked at the animal and knew before the week was out he would be destroyed. Unless he was rescued. That caged animal and his probable fate troubled me.

Than I thought of the multitude of friends, relatives, people we meet from time to time who do not have eternal life. They are in as much locked in a cage of doom.

We seem to care more about the treatment of animals than the salvation of our fellow man.

For one thing, religion has many believing they are in fine spiritual condition with the almighty. They are instructed from early age they are Christians. In the actions of their style of life, down through years, usually does not reveal that. We who are born again are guilty of not sharing the gospel truth with our caged friends or relatives.

Many times that lost person who we are sharing the gospel truth, rebukes us.

However, when they decide to not receive the good news of eternal life; your effort is noted in heaven. That caged dog when and if destroyed, his life is over. The person who has rejected the gospel of Christ his or her life is just starting in the hereafter. They will never die, but live in torment forever and ever. That's what the scripture says. Matt. 11: 23 & 24; Luke 16:23; Rev. 20:13.

For the worm will not die neither shall their fire be quenched. Isa. 66:24.

Only a fool rejects the Savior.

The "Word" for the Week

Christian Living In The Home

Is it really possible to salvage a marriage which is on the rocks? A lot of people think that divorce is the answer. After all, it is a lot easier to bail out of an unhappy marriage than to attempt to save it. Not so says the author of The Case Against Divorce, by Diane Medved. Listen, "Divorce itself inevitably changes you - it diminishes your moral perspective, staggers you emotionally for months and years...." But, the author points out, "There are some things that, unfortunately, it does not automatically affect: the patterns in your behavior that led to your marital problems in the first place." To put this in Biblical terms, the real problem in a divided household is personal sin. What I mean is that either husband or wife or both are not at peace with God because of sin against the other. So peace within the marriage is impossible. In divorce you may separate from your mate. But what about the patterns in your behavior which led to the divorce. These sinful patterns of behavior will follow you. They will follow you into your next marriage. You see divorce is not the answer. The answer is radical change! Change from the inside out. You know, God has been in the business of changing people on the inside for centuries.

The promise of God is very plain. He says, "I will give you a new heart, and I will remove the heart of stone from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh" (Ezekiel 36:26). When God performs radical heart surgery on you, your life will be changed. Not only so, you will begin to understand what marriage can be all about.

So turn to the living God for help in healing your marriage before it is too late.

'Legends of Country Music' shine at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis

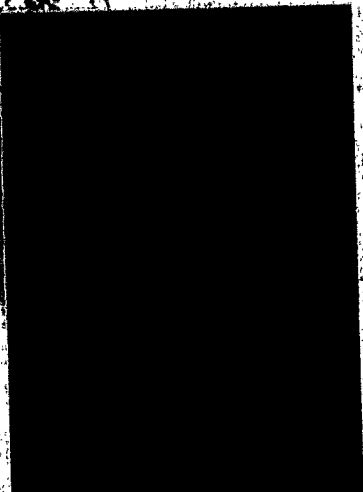

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Country music legends and Grand Ole Opry all-stars Kitty Wells, Jerry Reed, Bill Anderson, Lynn Anderson and Little Jimmy Dickens perform their classic country hits on Friday and Saturday July 30 and 31 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. The Legends of Country Music concerts will be at 9 p.m. each night and are hosted by renowned country music host, Ralph Emery. Tickets are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and are available through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

Kitty Wells is known all over the world as "The Undisputed Queen of Country Music," a title which was bestowed on her after her 1952 recording of "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels" made her the very first female ever to have a number one record on the country music charts. Since that time she has had an amazing 23 number one chart records including such classics as "Making Believe," "Mommy for a Day," "Heartbreak USA," "Dust on the Bible" and "Please Release Me." Now a member of Nashville's Country Music Hall of Fame, Kitty continues to receive accolades as "the lady who started it all" by such entertainers as Loretta Lynn, Dolly Parton, Reba McEntire and Patsy Cline. Throughout her career, Wells has received most, if not all, of Nashville's most prestigious awards including the "Lifetime Achievement Award" and the "Pioneer Award." Her success worldwide can best be summed up in the words of her son and co-performer Bobby Wright, "No matter where in the world we go to perform, everybody's heard of Kitty Wells!" Today she tours with her husband,

Jerry Reed

Kitty Wells

Ralph Emery

Bill Anderson

Johnny Wright and son Bobby in "The Kitty Wells Show," the longest running family show in country music.

Grammy award winning singer-songwriter, Jerry Reed, began his recording career at the age of 17 and had his first million selling hit with "Amos Moses." His career continued to grow with hits like "When Your Hot Your Hot," "East Bound and Down," "The Bird," "She Got the Goldmine, I Got the Shaft" and minor film roles in "Smokey and the Bandit," "The Survivors" and "The Waterboy." Reed has received a People's Choice Award, three Grammy awards, and two CMA awards. He continues to tour heavily and is working on a new album.

Composer and musician "Whispering" Bill Anderson wrote his first country classic, "City Lights," when he was nineteen. Since then he's had a string of hits including: "Po' Folks," "Mama Sang A Song," "The Tip of My Fingers," and the country and pop smash, "Still." He's also the composer behind the Mark Willis #1, "Wish You Were Here," and "Two Teardrops" which also reached #1 when recorded by Steve Wariner in 1999. Anderson was also the first country artist to host a network game show, starring on ABC's "The Better Sex." He also appeared for three years on ABC's daytime soap opera, "One Life To Live." Anderson's music can be heard on recent recordings by Vince Gill, Lorrie

Morgan, John Michael Montgomery, Collin Raye, Sara Evans, Kenny Chesney and Brad Paisley.

Lynn Anderson has been expanding country music's popularity ever since her landmark Grammy-winning pop and country hit, "Rose Garden," catapulted her into international stardom. The success was followed by a string of hits including, "You're My Man," "How Can I Unlove You," "Cry," "Rocky Top," "Under the Boardwalk," and "Top of the World," which won CMA Song of the Year. To date Anderson has had eight #1 singles, 18 top-tens, 16 gold albums and won virtually every award available to a female artist, including an American Music Award. Her records have sold millions worldwide.

Little Jimmy Dickens became a member of the Grand Ole Opry in 1948 and had a continuous string of hits including: "Sleepin' At The Foot Of The Bed," "Take An Old Cold Tater," "Out Behind the Barn," "I'm Little But I'm Loud," "Country Boy," and "May The Bird of Paradise Fly Up Your Nose." As a regular member of the "Phillip Morris TV Show," Dickens entertained overseas and became the first country music artist to completely circle the globe on world tour.

Ralph Emery made his mark on country music as the host of "Nashville Now" for over ten years. He brought country music's biggest star and fresh new faces together for music and talk in a warm relaxed setting. In addition Emery has worked as a disc-jockey, a reporter, and now hosts a new series on TNN entitled "Ralph Emery's Country Homecoming."

Don't miss these Legends of Country Music in concert, July 30th and 31st only at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis! Must be 21 to attend.

Checking in with Ryan Pinkston

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Ryan Pinkston is having a blast playing one of five "Quintuplets" in Fox's new Wednesday night sitcom, but he is just as glad life didn't imitate art in that respect.

"Having one brother is stressful enough for me," the 16-year-old actor says. "Maybe it would be fun for awhile, but it would get to be too much after awhile."

Best known to his ardent teen fans as one of the sneaky "field agents" on Ashton Kutcher's hit MTV reality series "Punk'd," Pinkston is flexing different muscles creating and sustaining a fictional sitcom character week after week, although he admits he has a couple of things in common with Patton Chase, his vatically challenged sibling character on "Quintuplets."

"I always felt I had to be better than everyone else at things just because I was short," he says. "I'm like (Patton) in that respect, plus we're both totally girl-crazy."

"(Doing a sitcom) is different from what I was doing in the reality field for so long, but it's cool to get to know the consistencies of your character and how he would react and say any line that he's given. And the writers start to put parts of your own personality into your character, too."

Fired up as a little kid by "The Teenage Ninja Turtles" and "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers," Pinkston became a martial arts enthusiast at age 5. He has won a number of international competitions and traveling the world confirmed what he wanted to do with his life.

"If this show ended tomorrow, I'd be sad, but I could handle it," he says. "If I can't keep acting, though, I'd like to direct or write, something in the entertainment industry. I've always wanted to entertain."

Born: Feb. 9, 1988, in Silver Spring, Md.

Family ties: Parents run a computer graphics company; one older brother, Aaron.

Martial arts honors: Second-degree black belt in karate and first-degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do. Ryan and a former teammate were world champions in their division of Team Synchronized Karate for three consecutive years.

First break: A Gap Kids commercial featuring young martial artists led to other modeling and acting gigs.

Film credits: "Soul Plane," "Bad Santa," "Boy Kids 3-D: Game Over." Up next: "Slay the Bully," a comedy.

TV series credits: "Punk'd," "Quintuplets." Web site: <http://www.ryan-pinkston.com>, maintained by his dad.

McEnroe talks about more than sports on 'McEnroe'

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

He's won seven Grand Slam singles titles, five U.S. Davis Cup championships and 154 titles on the ATP Tour. He's also been a tennis commentator for the past 12 years. His brother, Patrick, is also a former tennis pro and current TV analyst.

But as synonymous as the name McEnroe is with tennis, John McEnroe's new prime-time weeknight talker on CNBC, "McEnroe" (premiering Wednesday, July 7), will not be.

At least, not necessarily. This new vehicle will be a showcase of McEnroe's interests, incorporating his passion for current events, music, entertainment and, yes, sports. "I don't have a problem talking a lot about sports," McEnroe says, "but I do have other interests. I love music and I've had an art gallery for many years, so I'd like to try to find an art element. I love politics from a distance, and I just want it to feel like you're able to talk about things the way you would talk to a friend about."

Interviews will be an integral part of the show, as will reports from contributors who will serve up insight and information on the news stories of the day.

And while McEnroe says the show will be more entertainment-oriented, it will get serious when the need arises. "Hopefully at some point when I have a politician on," he says, "I'll be able to sort of get them to actually answer the question they're asked, which is one of the segments. One of the most famous things I ever said was, 'ANSWER THE QUESTION!' I can have some fun with that, but also be (serious)."

McEnroe may even take a page from two talk-show hosts he admires, David Letterman and Johnny Carson, and do a monologue. "I'm a sucker for monologues," he says.

Horoscope This Week

HOROSCOPE

By Caroline James - Zap2it

July 4 through July 10, 2004

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Communication could become a creative art for you. While you think things are perfectly clear, others might get confused.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Get your health checked out. A problem won't go away on its own, so you'll need professional help.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Talking through your problems will get you farther than simply avoiding them. You'll feel so much better for it.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

If you need to spend the cash to get something you want, make sure you really want it. Clear out some things to make room.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Energy in your first house will have people clamoring to be at your side. Pick and choose your companions wisely.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

You need to get something off your chest. Figure out the best way to handle the conversation and then proceed.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Making new friends has always been easy for you. It's keeping them that trips you up. Figure out why.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

You'll have the drive to succeed, and succeed you will. You haven't felt this good about life in a while.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

Courses to improve your professional status would be a wise investment. You'll go farther later by sacrificing now.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Cross all your Ts and dot all your Is when you decide to move forward with legal plans. It will ensure your success.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Rekindling a flame could be a good project for bored Aquarians. Make sure this is a fire you want to light, though.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

A desire to improve your health is strong at this time. Do what you need to do to follow this urge - you'll be surprised at the results.

Celebrate the Fourth with the president at Ford's Theatre

By Jacqueline Culler
© Zap2it

The fireworks are but a whiff of burned gunpowder and the ice cream just gooey puddles in bowls as Independence Day draws to a close. By nightfall, viewers are still in the mood for a special in the spirit of the day.

ABC's "An American Celebration at Ford's Theatre" Sunday, July 4, is the perfect way to cap off the holiday. Kelsey Grammer affably hosts the quick-paced show featuring performances by pop, country and rhythm-and-blues artists, comedians and a salute to Medal of Honor recipients.

Taped March 14 before a black-tie, invitation-only crowd that included the president and first lady, the show is a rare 10 p.m. program children can enjoy.

The good time that everyone had there comes across on the screen, executive producer Gil Cates says. "It's a show (where) you can sleep after watching. There are not many shows you can say that about. You watch the news, you don't want to go to sleep. You want to take a Xanax."

Jessica Simpson opens the show, wearing a strapless red gown, singing "Take My Breath Away." The once-pointed David Spade asks for applause, saying he is the "only actor in Hollywood who's not political." He also jokes about his mom's crush "on someone named Rummy" as the camera pans on Secretary of Defense Donald H. Rumsfeld.

The show picks up when Kimberly Williams-Paisley introduces Patti LaBelle, who tears up the stage. Also wearing a red gown, she sings "New Attitude," then gently ribs Bush, saying, "Come on, Mr. President. Do the bump," and he wiggles in his chair. LaBelle then sings "New Day" while strutting around in five-inch heels and hitting notes others may never find.

LaBelle says she hopes viewers watch this and realize, "We are all God's children, and we can all get along if we want to. There are so many different kinds of music. Music is universal. The president gets his groove on too, sometimes. I got Bush. Hey, I just want people to see that there is a time in our life where we can all have fun and listen to the same beat."

That feeling comes through when Brad Paisley takes the stage. Looking every bit the cowboy heartthrob in a white cowboy hat, jeans and long black jacket, he sings his tongue-in-cheek "Celebrity," accompanied by the amusing music video. Then he brings on stage about 20 children who have relatives serving in the military, to sing the chorus to "Ain't Nothin' Like."

Be prepared for the first tears of the night as Paisley asks an adorable boy, Patrick, who in his family is serving and where. Patrick says his father is in Afghanistan, and Paisley tells Patrick to look into the camera, and tell everyone his father's name and say hello to him. Patrick fixes his blue eyes on the camera and says his name is "Papa."

Ventriloquist Ronn Lucas, with a tuxedo-clad dragon, follows, and the audience, at least, finds him funny. From there, Michelle Williams of Desperate Housewives sings "Purpose in Your Storm."

While she was on that historic stage, Williams says she was thinking, "about everything going on in the world. For real, I thought about the soldiers and the decisions Bush has to make, and the people all around him. All I could do is just pray for the troops, pray for the people in Iraq. Even the people who have done harm, you still have to pray for everybody."

After Rascal Flatts performs "These Days," actor Gary Sinise introduces six true heroes—recipients of the Medal of Honor: Army Pvt. George

Patti LaBelle in ABC's "An American Celebration at Ford's Theatre" Sunday, says of singing for the president in these tense times, "I wasn't nervous. If something happens, I will have to duck."

Sakato served in World War II and led a charge against the enemy, killing 12. Lt. Thomas Hudner of the Navy rescued an injured squadron mate during the Korean War. Pfc. Joe Rodriguez of the Army dashed 60 yards up an enemy slope, killing 15 during the Korean War.

Cpl. Robert O'Malley of the Marines killed eight and protected his squadron until everyone was evacuated during the Vietnam War. Air Force Maj. Leo Thorsness saved his colleagues and flew with a single engine that shut down just as he landed during the Vietnam War. Finally, Army Pfc. Clarence Sasser ran through a hail of bullets to help the wounded. Despite intense pain and loss of blood, he treated others for five hours before being helped himself.

Fallon left 'SNL' to pursue movie offers

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q ■ Is it true that Jimmy Fallon is leaving "Saturday Night Live"? Who do you guess will replace him as Tina Fey's co-anchor on the "Weekend Update" segments? Fred Bobb III, Palm City, Fla.

A ■ Fallon, 29, may have caught a few fans off-guard when he announced he was leaving "SNL," but he had made it clear earlier to his NBC bosses that he wanted to pursue film offers.

The actor and comic, who joined "SNL" in 1998, recently completed work on the action comedy "Taxi," in which he co-stars with Queen Latifah, due for release later this year.

In all likelihood, NBC executives will announce Fey's new "Update" co-anchor during the upcoming Television Critics Association summer press tour later this month. Assuming that Fey doesn't handle the news spot solo next season, I'd give clean-cut Seth Meyers the inside track on the job. If the show partners Fey with another female cast member, red-hot Amy Poehler could get the spot. In both cases, though, I'm just guessing.

Q ■ Can you please print the poem featured at the funeral of young Rocky in a May 28 rerun of "Joan of Arcadia"? F.W., Tucson, Ariz.

A ■ That poem, which has been featured in other TV funerals as well, is Mary E. Frye's "Do Not Stand at My Grave and Weep," sometimes simply called "Do Not Weep."

Do not stand at my grave and weep,
I am not there, I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow,
I am the diamond glints on snow,
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,
I am the gentle autumn rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush,
I am the swift, uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in circled flight,
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there, I did not die.

Emmy-winning 'Amazing Race' returns with more global thrills

By John Crook
© Zap2it

They're savvy, they're determined and now they're off. Trailing a cloud of road dust and Emmy glamour (as last season's outstanding reality-competition program), "The Amazing Race 5" gets under way on CBS with a special 90-minute premiere on Tuesday, July 6.

As in previous years, the competition sends 11 two-member teams, each with a pre-existing relationship, on a high-intensity race around the world for a $1 million prize.

While previous editions of the Race got off to a fairly genial, even slightly goofy start, this fifth round feels strikingly different, as injuries and hard feelings surface almost right from the Southern California starting line.

"This is by far the most cutthroat season I have seen in terms of how people have played the game, because the teams have worked out where the equalizers (in the race) are - airports, say, where the teams tend to stack up - so they know when they really need to push," says Phil Keoghan, returning for his fifth stint as host.

"This particular season really has an edge to it in terms of the teams we have chosen. They're edgy, engaging characters, contrasting teams that rub one another the wrong way from time to time. We don't look to create a 'perfect holiday' atmosphere, and the players that come into the game now are just much more charged-up and competitive from watching previous seasons."

That's certainly true of Marsha McCoy, the 26-year-old Florida law student who hopes she and her father, Jim, can work as teammates and pull out a victory, although no parent-child team has fared well in previous Races.

"The most important thing is to have mental toughness," she says. "I loved (gay teammates) Danny and Oswald from the second Race, because they didn't stress themselves out. They stayed calm and made good decisions. Our big goal is to make as few mistakes as possible, so we don't wind up 30 miles out of the way."

"We both can get an attitude at times, so mainly we've been working on trying to think and work as a team," Jim McCoy adds. "As a military father, I tend to treat her like one of the troops, but this race is a 50-50 proposition, so I am working on being more flexible."

Three of the four previous Races have been won by two-male teams, and the lone exception, in "Amazing Race 3," occurred when Zach Behr all but physically carried his spoiled, petulant girl pal, Flo Pesenti, through much of the competition.

This year's lineup includes no "alpha male" teams, just Dallas restaurant owners Marshall and Lance Hudes, two brothers who are no gym bunnies.

"We are not going to win this race by sprinting," concedes Marshall Hudes, the older brother at 31. "We've seen a lot of very fit people lose this race early on, because they don't think it through and they make a major mistake. We hope to avoid that. Anyone who doesn't make a major mistake will get at least halfway through."

Other teams include: Twins Karl and Karl French, 26, of Eugene, Ore.

Colin Guinn, 24, and Christle Woods, 26, a dating couple from Corpus Christi, Texas.

Chip and Kim McAllister, 46 and 44 respectively, a married couple from Coto De Caza, Calif.

Alison Irwin, 23, a former (and widely loathed by viewers) "Big Brother" house guest, and her browbeaten boyfriend, student Donald Patrick, both Pennsylvanians.

Linda Ruiz, 45, and Karen Heins, best friends from Palmdale, Calif.

Dennis Frentos, 27, of West Nyack, N.Y., and his former fiancée, Erika Shay, 25, of Piermont, N.Y., retasting the romantic waters together.

Charla Faddoul, a store manager who has a form of dwarfism, and her cousin, Mira Hindoyan, both 27-year-old Marylanders.

Houston model Brandon Davidson, 25, and his girlfriend, Los Angeles actress Nicole O'Brian, 21.

Bob Barron, 61, and Joyce Nicol, 54, a couple who struck up their acquaintance via the Internet.

"The Amazing Race 5" includes a new feature called "Yield," which allows one team to slow down a competitor. Used shrewdly, it can eliminate a rival team, although that same team can become a bitter and formidable enemy if its members manage to survive elimination despite the Yield.

In addition to that new wrinkle, "Race 5" offers new challenges to its teams in terms of the sheer distances they are forced to travel.

"This season was one of the toughest yet," Keoghan says. "We traveled more miles than ever before, about 75,000. Most previous seasons have been around 50,000. To put that into perspective, to go around the equator once is 23,000 miles, so we did the equivalent of looping the world three times, although we were zig-zagging, of course."

"This is by far the most cutthroat season I have seen," host Phil Keoghan says of "The Amazing Race 5" the Emmy-winning competition that gets off to a dramatic start Tuesday on CBS.

"It gets pretty hairy. There were plenty of times when I was racing to get to a pit stop knowing that the teams were racing there at the same time. So far, touch wood, we've managed to stay ahead of them, but I always laugh when people think I must get in some nice shopping and sightseeing on this thing. They don't realize it's very intense and the Race takes place over a pretty short period of time. It's a big adrenaline ride, and even when the teams are sleeping, we're usually continuing to move."

Although "The Amazing Race" consistently draws rave reviews from critics and a loyal cult following among viewers, its ratings have lagged behind less classy fare such as the voyeuristic "Big Brother." Encouraged by that Emmy win, however, CBS already has greenlit "Amazing Race 6" to air during the 2004-05 season.

'A Capitol Fourth' gets a dose of Bee Gees fever

This Independence Day, the British are coming again ... at least to "A Capitol Fourth."

Born in England, Robin Gibb of music's Bee Gees is on the guest roster for the annual celebration that PBS will televise Sunday, July 4 (check local listings).

Barry Bostwick ("Spin City") will be back for his seventh stint as host on the West Lawn of the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., with Erich Kunzel returning to conduct the National Symphony Orchestra. Other scheduled performers include singer Clay Aiken ("American Idol"), and married music stars Vince Gill and Amy Grant.

"You wouldn't have Independence Day without the British," Gibb says, "so I guess it's appropriate to be there. The Revolutionary War and all that has something to do with it in an abstract way. If (the show's writers and producers) don't bring that up, I could, I might just give it some attention."

Gibb is looking forward to reuniting with Aiken at the holiday event, having been a guest judge on "American Idol" last year. Gibb concedes, "It's very hard doing something like that, in terms of being critical of people's performances. Especially since I wasn't one of the regular judges, I just wanted to be constructive."

"A Capitol Fourth" marks one of the first public performances by Gibb since the death of his twin brother, Maurice, last year. At press time, Robin was trying to convince surviving sibling (and fellow Bee Gee) Barry to join him. Both brothers live in Miami, as did Maurice, so they have long been in tune with the Fourth of July.

"My son R.J. was born in America," Gibb says, "so he's been brought up to be very observant of that day as well. It's a very big event for him." Being backed by a full symphony on "A Capitol Fourth" won't be new for Gibb, who reports, "We've always done music with orchestras. That's how we started out."

Tunes from "Saturday Night Fever," one of the top-selling movie soundtracks of all time, may be among Gibb's selections on "A Capitol Fourth," although he also wants to showcase other elements of the wide-ranging Bee Gees catalog. "We'd had so much success before 'Fever,' and we've also written songs for other people. Our careers began in the '60s with things like 'I've Gotta Get a Message to You' and 'To Love Somebody' and 'I Started a Joke.'"

Afterward, the Bee Gees frequently reinvented themselves. They left their mark on the mid-1970s with hits like "Jive Talkin'" and "Nights on Broadway." And in the wake of the "Fever" phenomenon, they released such singles as "Tragedy" and "Too Much Heaven," Gibb reasons. "We've always seen ourselves as songwriters, and I think that's why we've had this career. We've never been afraid to try different kinds of music, as opposed to sticking to just one type. It's always been important to us to experiment. Different styles just always interested us."

Raised in Australia, the Bee Gees received a major accolade last month: the Order of the British Empire from their native country's government, commemorating the group's success over 40-plus years in entertainment. "It was a great experience," Robin recalls of receiving the honor from Prince Charles. "You get kind of a strange feeling from seeing O.B.E. after your name. It's just a pity Maurice couldn't have been there."

Holiday fireworks will illuminate the sky over the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., as PBS presents the annual special "A Capitol Fourth" Sunday. This year's musical lineup includes Robin Gibb, Clay Aiken, Vince Gill and Amy Grant.

'Scarface' provides ESPN anchor with unique home-run call

By George Dickie
Zap2it

ESPN's Steve Berthiaume just recently purchased the 1983 movie "Scarface" on DVD.

Not that he's a huge fan of the movie. It's violent, long and can be taxing to watch. But Al Pacino is in it and it contains a lot of good lines, including one that has become the "SportsCenter" anchor's signature home-run call: "Say hello to my little friend!"

"I like the movie," says Berthiaume, a Boston-area native who lately has been anchoring the overnight edition of the daily sports news program. "I don't pop it in all the time just because it's long and it can be draining... it's obviously a pretty violent movie and depressing. But at the same time, Pacino is just so funny that there are moments in it where you're just laughing. So I'm not a huge fan of the movie. I like it. I have it here and I watch it occasionally. But I always thought that line would be great for that kind of situation. And it's fun. Who doesn't have fun talking like Tony Montana? So that's sort of the approach I like to have on the air. Just go out and have fun. If I'm having fun and enjoying myself, then somebody might have fun watching, too."

Since graduating in 1987 from Boston's Emerson College with a bachelor of sciences degree in broadcast journalism, Berthiaume has made sports reporting his life, a goal he had from a very early age. "My first job out of college was WVIR-TV in Charlottesville, Va., which was just beautiful," he says. "Talk about a nice place. It's just so beautiful there. I got out of college in May of '87, and I was pretty lucky. I only sort of taped for about three months and landed something, so I was very fortunate. And I went from school to working at channel 22 in Charlottesville, and suddenly I was interviewing Mike Gzyzawski and Dean Smith, and I thought, 'This is terrific!' And I made $12,000, and I lived in a guy's closet."

From there, Berthiaume made stops at TV stations in Columbia, S.C., Providence, R.I., Pensacola, Fla., and Hartford, Conn., doing local sports at all of them before landing at CNN in Atlanta. But since getting out of college, he had his sights set on one particular gig, and in December of 1999, he realized his goal.

Berthiaume says, "Doing this show has always been what I wanted to do ever since I got into this thing back in Charlottesville. Getting on this show and doing 'SportsCenter' was the job. This is always what I wanted to do. It's just a great opportunity and it's always fun."

When he's not on the air on ESPN, Berthiaume, an avid bicyclist, can be found riding the roads near his Hartford home. Later this month, he'll be in France as part of a tour group riding the various stages of the Tour de France. "I go on vacation and ride it," he says. "When I was in high school, I was a very avid runner. I did cross-country, winter track, spring track, and ran the Boston Marathon when I was a senior in high school in '83, and just trashed my knees. And so that's how I sort of got on the bike. And then Greg (LeMond) won his first Tour in '86, and that started a whole cycling craze, and I sort of got on that. I've been racing bicycles ever since."

"The Tour de France is just something I have a great passion for, and it's an event that means more to me than anything," Berthiaume continues. "I get very emotional about European cycling, especially the Tour. To go there and be in the middle of that environment and do that event and have those guys ride right by you, it's an incredible thrill."

"So I'm very enthusiastic about that. I follow it very closely and have been doing a lot of training for this year. So that's pretty much all I'm doing these days, actually. I get up, get my miles in and get off the bike and go to work and come back, sleep, get back up, back on the bike and back into work."

And remember to "say hello to my little friend!" "I'm not a big catch-phrase guy, actually," Berthiaume says. "I don't like to use those if I don't have to. But sometimes they're just fun, and we're supposed to be having fun. It's sports, so it's supposed to be fun."

"Tennis" Sunday, July 4 (NBC, 9 a.m. ET): On the day the United States celebrates the birth of its independence, will a beginning of another kind take place in England? It did a year ago for Roger Federer, whose championship at Wimbledon rocketed his career into the tennis stratosphere, where the 22-year-old Swiss has remained since. Ted Robinson, John McEnroe and Mary Carillo call the shots in this morning's men's singles final.

"MLB Baseball" Monday, July 5 (ESPN2, 7 p.m. ET): Before the season began, Mets owner Fred Wilpon said his goal was for his team to play "meaningful games" in September. As of late June, his team was halfway there, lurking within shouting distance of their opponents tonight, the second-place Phillies. In two prior series this season, Mike Piazza and the Mets have dominated their N.L. East rivals, winning four of five from Jim Thome and company.

"PGA Golf" Thursday, July 8 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): Vijay Singh closed last year's John Deere Classic with a 6-under-65 in the final round, playing bogey-free golf while notching birdies on six holes to win by four strokes over Chris Riley, J.L. Lewis and Jonathan Byrd. He'll return to TPC at Deere Run, Silvis, Ill., to defend his title against Riley, Matt Kuchar, Nick Price, and Jay and Bill Haas, among others.

Movie: Thelma & Louise

Matthew Wilton's classic American musical — which was nominated for nine Tony Awards (winning six) in 1957 — comes to the small screen in this 2003 production. Matthew Broderick ("The Producers") takes on the role of the fast-talking rogue Harold Hill, who tries to con the good citizens of River City, Iowa, into creating a boys' marching band — but his heart gets in the way. Kristin Chenoweth and Victor Garber co-star.

Monday

3:30 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Groundhog Day

Christmas figures in more movies than you can shake a candy cane at, but Punxsutawney Phil's day in the sun — or lack thereof — has inspired just one. Bill Murray stars in this 1993 romantic comedy as an obnoxious TV weatherman forced to relive Feb. 2 until he gets it right — mending his abrasive ways and winning the lovely Rita (Andie MacDowell). Chris Elliott and Brian Doyle-Murray also star.

Tuesday

7 p.m. on 13-PBS

Movie: Return to Snowy River

As with "The Man From Snowy River" this 1988 sequel showcases gorgeous scenery and excellent cinematography by Keith Wagstaff. Tom Burlinson again plays Jim, who returns to claim his love, Jessica (Sigrid Thornton). Her father (Brian Dennehy) is as against the match as he ever was. Jim must convince Jessica to start a new life with him as a rancher's wife.

Wednesday

8 p.m. on 13-PBS

Movie: American Masters

Her big voice booms again in "Judy Garland: By Myself." Anticipating her autobiography, Garland recorded many anecdotes in preparation. Although the book was not published, this biography uses her own words to paint a picture of a professionally successful woman.

Saturday

7 p.m. on 25-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Princess of Thieves

If you enjoy the story of Robin Hood, then you'll appreciate this 2001 update that features Kiera Knightley in the role of Robin's 18-year-old daughter, Gwyn. Since the death of her mother, Marion, Gwyn has grown up in a monastery. When her father (Stuart Wilson) is kidnapped by the evil Prince John (Jonathan Hyde), she must put her archery skills to the mark to ensure the King's son, Prince Philip (Stephen Moyer), becomes the next leader of 12th-century England.

TV Trivia

James Cagney ("Yankee Doodle Dandy") worked as a pool-racker as well as a female impersonator in order to help support his family.

Walter Matthau ("Out to Sea") was introduced to the theater when he sold sodas at the Second Avenue Yiddish Theater.

Richard Dean Anderson ("Stargate SG-1") bicycled thousands of miles from Minnesota to Alaska when he was 17.

Mark Consuelos ("Missing") was born in Spain but grew up and attended school in the United States, where he received a degree in marketing.

Malcolm McDowell ("Princess of Thieves") changed his surname from Taylor due to another actor already having that name.

July 4 - 10, 2004

Barry Bostwick ("Spin City") presides again over the annual celebration of the United States' birthday outside of the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C. Among this year's guests are performer Clay Aiken, married singers Vince Gill and Amy Grant, and Robbi Gibb of the Bee Gees. Erich Kunzel leads the National Symphony Orchestra; the program includes a 150th-birthday salute to composer-conductor John Philip Sousa.

(This column is for print use ONLY.) (This column represents on-air summaries for the week of June 28-July 2, 2004.)

All My Children

Erica's loved ones, including her brother Mark, conducted an intervention to get Erica to admit her drinking problem. About to break down, Erica suddenly remembered that her father set her up to be raped by Richard Fields on her 14th birthday. Greenlee covered her real feelings when she and Ryan agreed to end their marriage so he can pursue Kendall. However, when Ryan found his brother Jonathan in Kendall's bedroom, he walked out on her and returned to a comforting Greenlee. J.R. slipped a hallucinogenic drug into Babe's drink, which caused her to collapse and be rushed to the hospital. Zach kissed Maria, whom he knew as Maureen. Coming: Greenlee has unsettling news for Kendall.

As the World Turns

It was revealed that Craig hired the men who kidnapped Lucy. Hal and Nick learned that Lucy and Dusty were in a truck, but when they opened the vehicle, only Lucy was inside, as she lied about Dusty's location. Starziak grabbed Molly and had his goon lock her in a broken elevator. Tom refused to believe that all Margo and Doc shared was one kiss. When Tom found Jessica's compact in Doc's car, he assumed that it was Margo's and pocketed it. After Katie learned the truth regarding Simon's involvement with Pilar, she threw him out, then decided to let Mike think she left town with Simon, rather than take the chance of hurting Mike again. Coming: Molly relies on her wits.

Bold and Beautiful

Rick and Caitlin enjoyed a mutual attraction as he encouraged her design work. When the subject of Thomas came up, Caitlin led Rick to believe that they're just friends. Daria saw Ridge and Thorne arguing and demanded that Ridge treat Thorne with respect. When Massimo tried to reconcile with Ridge, he was allowed to visit Ridge's new son, R.J., but Ridge denied his Marone heritage. Ridge warned Stephanie that she needs to get along with Brooke in order to spend time with R.J. Ridge later threw Stephanie out when he caught her battling with Brooke. Coming: Stephanie needs to rethink her attitude.

Days of Our Lives

As Jennifer attempted to call Hope from the plane, the pilot discovered her on the phone. As a struggle ensued, the plane went into a tailspin and crashed on the island, killing the pilot. Jennifer survived but was in a precarious situation as she clung to the edge of a cliff. Patrick intended to use the mysterious doubt to save Jennifer, but was arrested after he stole the coin back from a pawnshop. Meanwhile, Bo was stunned to see the results of an ISA computer search on Patrick. Julie was horrified to discover that Mickey and Bonnie have become intimate. Belle began her appeal to Shawn during the NASCAR race, but Shawn, still hurt by the pictures of Philip and Belle, wasn't paying attention. Coming: John attempts to nail Crystal - and Nicole.

General Hospital

Heather Webber was shown to be the person who stalked Skye and murdered Ross. Heather drugged Lesley's drink, sending her to the hospital and getting Heather closer to Lulu. Felicia uncovered something about Sam's past in Bailey's Beach, prompting Carly to go there. A mystery man was seen looking at an old mug shot of Sam.

under the name Sandra McIntire. When Nicolas asked Alcazar to investigate his past, Alcazar warned Mary who was later confronted by Emily with the truth. Ric suddenly kissed Alexis to prevent her from seeing the paternity test he had conducted on Kristina. Coming: Jason and Carly uncover a secret.

Guiding Light

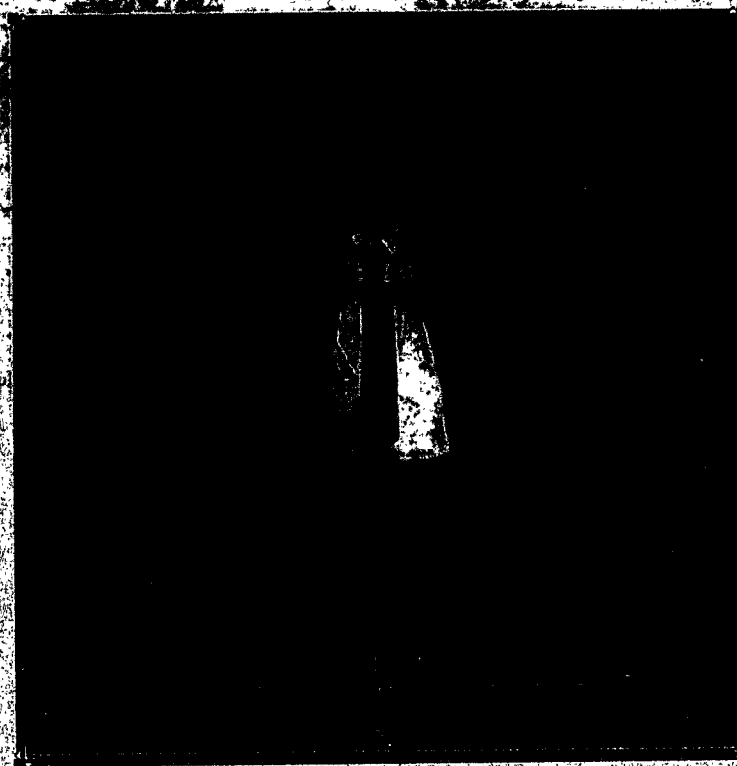

Danny asked Tony to stay close as they worked with Michelle to get her memory back. Danny's efforts to keep Michelle calm seemed about to crumble when Robbie arrived unexpectedly and spotted his mother. Danny confronted Jeffrey and, in front of Cassie, baited Jeffrey into telling the truth of how he roped in Danny to work undercover by threatening to bust Cassie. When Reva told Jeffrey that someone in Europe is using Cassie's ID, Jeffrey made a phone call and delivered a warning. Coming: Gus tries to keep a secret.

One Life to Live

Kelly's evasiveness led Kevin to believe that he isn't Ace's father. When Todd refused to go along with Kelly's demand and declare that he is Ace's father, Kelly didn't care and crushed Kevin by saying just that. Kevin fired Margaret after Blair and Todd tricked her into confessing that she lied about Todd's theft. Jessica figured out that Antonio has to cozy up to Sonia for his undercover work, but privately vowed to help him in his dangerous mission. Paul and Natalie made love. To protect Natalie and help Antonio, Jessica gave Natalie bogus numbers from the jewelry, while Antonio turned the real jewelry over to Sonia. Coming: Antonio faces a test of loyalty.

Passions

Pilar realized she was on the phone with her long-lost husband, but Martin couldn't bring himself to speak. Luis broke the sad news about Antonio to Pilar, which caused her health to take a drastic turn for the worse. Alistair was furious to learn that Sheridan survived the jet explosion. Theresa overheard the identity of Fox's mystery woman and decided to reveal it to Whitney and Chad. Liz arrived at the assisted-living home to bring Aunt Irma to visit the Russells. Coming: A shocking revelation about the Cranes.

Young and Restless

Michael was convinced that Sharon is being framed for murder and urged her to go to the police. However, when Sharon learned that Weber was already investigating a body found in the sewer she decided not to confess. After all, J.T. found out that Bobby plans to propose to Brittany and told Raul. Mac and Daniel shared their first kiss. When Daniel demanded that Phyllis explain why she lost custody of him years ago, and threatened to leave, Phyllis blurted out that Danny is not his biological father. Kay overheard her family's plans for an intervention and shocked them by throwing herself a party. Coming: Kevin tries to make a fresh start.

Reality takes a bite out of daytime

"American Idol" wannabe Matthew Metzger, who was so close to making it into the final 12 of the talent competition, gets a shot at fame and fortune this summer. He has been signed for the role of Duke Buchanan in "One Life to Live." As of press time, his start date is unknown.

In other daytime/reality crossovers, Bob Guiney of "The Bachelor" popped the question to "All My Children" star Rebecca Budig, presenting her with a two-carat diamond engagement ring. The couple met when Guiney guested on "Bachelor XYZ," an ABC Family series hosted by Budig.

"Days of Our Lives" welcomed back Alice (Frances Reid) and the rest of the allegedly dead characters, but now it will be losing Belle Brady (Kirsten Storms). The actress' prime-time pilot, "Clubhouse," was picked up by CBS for its fall schedule.

"Days" released the following statement: "The cast and crew of 'Days' has always known that Kirsten was an exceptional talent, and it would be hard for us to stand in the way of her future. We all wish her the very best."

The role of Belle will be recast and the story line will continue seamlessly.

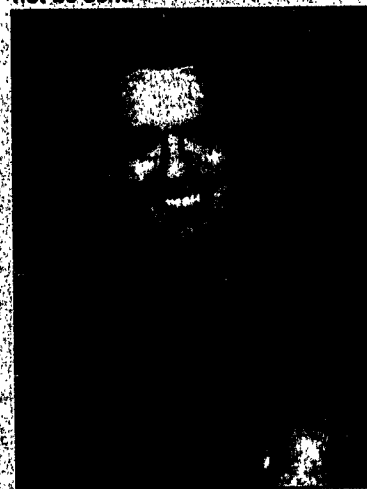

On a sadder note, former "Days" and "Guiding Light" star Richard Biggs died on May 22. He was 44. Biggs played Marcus Hunter in "Days" and Clayton Boudreau in "GL." He is survived by his wife and two sons.

Dear Paulette: Many years ago, there was a poem written that included all the titles of the soap operas - some of which are no longer on television. "All My Children," "General Hospital," "One Life to Live" and "Another World" were mentioned in the poem.

Dear Reader: Although the year was unavailable, "A Soap Opera Poem" by author Jilly seems to fit the bill:

As the World Turns,
All My Children,
are lying in General Hospital,
with One Life to Live,
with all Ryan's Hope,
while I am sitting here in Another World,
Searching for Tomorrow,
with The Young and the Restless:
These are The Days of Our Lives.

8 Simple Rules

Romantically interested in her tutor (guest star Jonathan Taylor Thomas, "Home Improvement"), Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) is upset that he seems more intrigued by her debate-team rival in Part 2 of the three-part episode "Opposites Attract." Jim (James Garner) pays a big price for accidentally destroying C.J.'s (David Spade) van, since Cate (Kaley Segal) makes them share a room.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Big Brother 5

It's time for strangers to become housemates again as the unscripted series begins its fifth round. Julie Chen ("The Early Show") is back as host of the live telecasts, in which someone usually is booted out leaving those who remain to keep competing for the $500,000 grand prize while under constant surveillance. At press time, there was no word whether players' ex-flames would be involved, as was the case last summer.

7:30 p.m. on 34-UPN

Eve

Shelly (Eve) worries when J.T.'s (Jason George) ex-girlfriend (guest star Stacey Dash, "Clueless") returns to town in "The Ex Factor." Afraid he might decide to return to his former flame, Shelly decides to make herself even more irresistible to him — although she's not quite sure how to go about it.

8 p.m. on 6-FOX

on 25-FOX

The Jury

Beating the charge of aggravated sexual abuse, a defendant's (guest star Thomas Guiry, "The Sentinel") fate hinges on the testimony of the alleged victim — who is 3 years old — in the new episode "Memories." The story was directed by Jake Paltrow, brother of Gwyneth and son of the late writer-producer-director Bruce Paltrow ("St. Elsewhere," "Duluth").

8 p.m. on 35-WB

Summerland

Ava (Lori Loughlin) is mortified when a picture of her in the nude ends up in the hands of Derrick's (Nick Benson) friend in the new episode "To Thine Own Self Be True." Bradin (Jesse McCartney) seeks advice on getting physically intimate with Sarah (guest star Sara Paxton), then sees her dating someone else. Cameron (guest star Zac Efron) starts resenting Nikki's (Kay Panabaker) possessive manner.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Amazing Race 5

And they're off again. Eleven two-person teams embark on a literal race around the world as this unscripted series starts its show with Phil Keoghan back as host. Challenges are many, and relationships are strained, as the competitors vie to cross the ultimate finish line first and claim the $1 million grand prize.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

An assistant district attorney is strangled in an area known for prostitution in "Lowdown." Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) initially suspect the murder is linked to one of the victim's cases, but the results of a DNA test support another reason for the murder.

10 p.m. on 10-CBS

P.O.V.

Professional and personal challenges faced by some reporters while covering the war in Iraq are considered by the new documentary "War Zone: The War." A Spanish filmmaker spent time in Iraq following journalists who were in harm's way while traveling to the front lines of battle. The "unilateral" group was not embedded with military units, thereby going without protection in trying to get the story.

11:30 p.m. on 25-FOX

Eve

Shelly (Eve) worries when J.T.'s (Jason George) ex-girlfriend (guest star Stacey Dash, "Clueless") returns to town in "The Ex Factor." Afraid he might decide to return to his former flame, Shelly decides to make herself even more irresistible to him — although she's not quite sure how to go about it.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

A wedding is the setting for relationship complications in "5:15." To Eric's (Topher Grace) chagrin, Donna (Laura Prepon) agrees to go with Mitch (guest star Seth Green) to his brother's wedding. Fez (Wilmer Valderrama) also attends and poses as a wealthy person to attract another guest (guest star Rachel Bilson, "The O.C."). Hyde (Danny Masterson) enjoys cable television.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Clark (Tom Welling) was not in a good place when this show's second season ended. He had turned into "bad Clark" again and rejected Lana (Kristen Kreuk) — who finally had admitted she loved him — and his Earth parents (John Schneider, Annette O'Toole) as he rode a motorcycle out of Smallville. Clark's father pursues him to Metropolis in Part 1 of "Exile." Rütger Hauer guest stars as a crime kingpin.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

National Geographic

The results of French explorer Alain Zivie's exploration of a cliffside in Saqqara, near Cairo, are showcased in the special "Egypt Eternal: The Quest for Lost Tombs." Highlights include a network of underground tunnels and funeral chambers unseen for thousands of years. Examining them proves perilous, since the site is highly unstable.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Star Trek: Enterprise

An Old West-style town is the surprising haven for thousands of humans discovered by Archer (Scott Bakula) and the rest of the Enterprise crew in "North Star." The residents have turned against the aliens who brought them to the distant planet, and T'Pol and Trip (Jolene Blalock, Connor Trinneer) try to determine how that role reversal could happen. Emily Bergl ("The Rage: Carrie 2") guest stars.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Quintuplets

Bob (Andy Richter) milks his win of a cell phone for all it's worth in the new episode "Lord of the Cell." All of his children want it, so he sets up a chore-related competition between them — and ultimately overdoes it, causing the kids to revolt. Carol (Rebecca Cresskoff) then sides with Bob to get the household back on track.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Simple Life 2: Road Trip

Paris Hilton has said one of her favorite aspects of making this series was visiting Louisiana, where she and fellow traveler Nicole Richie are shown in this new episode. They spend time in a swamp trying to trap crawfish, but they're more in their element when they take their host family's daughter shopping to prepare for her first date. When the bill for the spree arrives, it's another story.

8 p.m. on 28-ABC on 13-ABC

The Drew Carey Show

Drew (Drew Carey) resorts to desperate measures to give Kellie (Cyn-this Watros) the vacation she's always wanted, despite his limited resources. Lewis (Ryan Stiles) recommends his travel agent (guest star Fred Willard, "Best in Show"), who isn't necessarily the most reputable person in his field, to Drew.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

Doug and Carrie's (Kevin James, Leah Remini) intended renewal of their wedding vows hits numerous snags. They decide to call off the ceremony, generating rumors that their marriage is in trouble. Arthur (Jerry Stiller) mulls keeping the present he was going to give the couple.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) don't have many regards to give Broadway as they probe the murder of a young actress. The victim was found in the apartment of a Tony Award-winning songwriter, and the supposed break-in that led to the killing may have been faked. The tunesmith then becomes the focus of the investigation.

7 p.m. on 36-WB
Papal Smack

One of the top solo artists of recent years, Nelly is among the headliners in this new edition of the summer concert series. Maria Menes, Murphy Lee, the Calling, Story of the Year and Ying Yang Twins (featuring Trick Daddy) also are showcased. Additionally, Sling appears in a segment from Tweeter Center for the Performing Arts in Mansfield, Mass. Nick Zano ("What I Like About You") and Rachel Perry of VH1 are the hosts.

8 p.m. on 6-FOX on 25-FOX
Tru Calling

Tru (Eliza Dushku) debates saving the life of a reporter (guest star Michelle Harrison) who has been on the trail of Tru's secret in "The Getaway." The journalist is fatally shot, and after Tru is sent back in time to prevent the incident, her indecision about what to do is complicated when the shooter follows a different path than he originally did.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital

Another seizure gives Peter (Jack Coleman) views of the hospital's future as well as its past in the new episode "Shoulda Stood in Bed." Dr. Stegman (Bruce Davison) reacts in a dangerous manner after his malpractice is exposed publicly by Brenda and Dr. Hook (Meagen Fay, Andrew McCarthy). The script was written by series creator King.

8:20 p.m. on 6-NBC
Will & Grace

Will (Eric McCormack) anticipates having Jack (Sean Hayes) as his partner in a cooking class, but Jack brings his new beau (guest star Dave Foley, "NewsRadio") along in "Looking for Mr. Good Enough." Karen (Megan Mullally) is edgy over the return of her mother (guest star Suzanne Pleshette), who seeks Grace's (Debra Messing) advice on decorating. Tracey Ullman also guest stars.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS
Without a Trace

Malone (Anthony LaPaglia) and his team search for several missing people at once in "The Bus." An entire school bus vanishes, with 13 students on board. The driver is an immediate suspect, but the investigation soon turns to two men seeking ransom for the return of the bus and its passengers. Christopher McDonald ("The Perfect Storm") and Jayne Brook ("John Doe") guest star.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Bernie Mac Show

Bryana (Dee Dee Davis) isn't happy with Bernie (Bernie Mac) when he takes a movie role as the enemy of her favorite character, a friendly dinosaur (guest star David Faustino, "Maided With Children"). In "Droobie or Not Droobie," she then believes Bernie has killed the creature. Jordan's (Jeremy Suarez) fund-raising efforts go awry when he eats the candy bars he was supposed to sell.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Following a heavenly order for her to work on the school yearbook, Joan (Amber Tamblyn) uses the assignment to try to lure Adam (Christopher Marquette) away from Iris (Misti Traya) in "Anonymous." Joan tries to display an aptitude for photography, but the results are far from what she hoped for. Will (Joe Mantegna) tries to set a trap for a man who is scheming to have his own wife murdered.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

Holly's (Amanda Bynes) admission of her feelings for Vince (Nick Zano) is overheard by Henry (Michael McMullan), who breaks up with her and then goes AWOL. In "Regarding Henry," as she searches for Henry, Holly also has to cope with the sudden awareness Vince has of her romantic aims.

7 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Three Kings

As Desert Storm wanes, three soldiers (Mark Wahlberg, Ice Cube, Spike Jonze) find a map pointing the way to gold that Saddam Hussein's forces have stolen from the Kuwaitis. A disillusioned Special Forces officer (George Clooney) steps in and leads the trio on an unauthorized mission to retrieve the loot in this 1999 adventure-drama movie. Complications ensue over the shooting of an Iraqi woman by one of her own countrymen.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

In "The Wedding," Charley's (Ted McGinley) brother (guest star James Villamare) is getting married, and Charley is stressing out over the toast he's expected to deliver at the reception. But there are bigger problems developing with this wedding. For one thing, the bride (guest star Delaine Yates) is nowhere to be found after a wild night of partying with Faith (Kelly Ripa).

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

In the hour-long episode, "She's Leaving Home, Bye, Bye," the "she" is Kyra (Scarlett Pomers), who decides to leave Reba's (Reba McEntire) house and move in with Brock and Barbara Jean (Christopher Rich, Melissa Peterman). Reba and her other children recall many of the events that led Kyra to make her decision.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

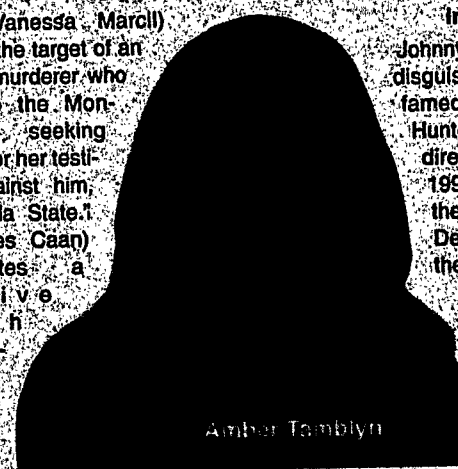

Las Vegas

Sam (Vanessa Marcil) becomes the target of an escaped murderer who comes to the Montecito, seeking revenge for her testimony against him in "Nevada State." Ed (James Caan) orchestrates a massive search through out the casino for the fugitive.

9 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas

Johnny Depp plays a thinly disguised variation on famed "gonzo" journalist Hunter S. Thompson in director Terry Gilliam's 1998 comedy, based on the writer's novel. The Depp character goes to the gambling mecca on business, but he and his cohort, "Dr. Gonzo" (Benicio Del Toro), engage in their own brand of destructive fun once they get there.

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Princess of Thieves

If you enjoy the story of Robin Hood, you'll appreciate this 2001 update that features Keira Knightley ("King Arthur") in the role of Robin's 18-year-old daughter, Gwyn. When her father (Stuart Wilson) is kidnapped by evil Prince John (Jonathan Hyde), who wants to take the throne from ailing King Richard, she puts her archery skills to work. Stephen Moyer co-stars.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Cop Land

Sylvester Stallone returned to a more vulnerable sort of character than his typical, larger-than-life heroes in writer-director James Mangold's ("Kate & Leopold") 1997 drama. The actor plays a small-town New Jersey sheriff involved in police corruption when a New York City detective (Robert De Niro) seeks his help. Harvey Keitel and Ray Liotta also star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle

Cameron Diaz, Drew Barrymore, Lucy Liu return as the lissome sleuths in this rapid-fire-paced 2003 sequel to the first movie based on the 1970s TV series. With a new Bosley (Bernie Mac) giving them orders to retrieve a stolen list of federally protected witnesses, the women battle a former "angel" (Demi Moore) gone bad. Crispin Glover ("Back to the Future") plays another enemy in a cast loaded with celebrity cameos.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Crime & Punishment

A high-school coach's alleged public lewdness is purported to have been something else by his defense attorney in the new episode "People v. McPherson, Bubeck/People v. Chastang." The coach is said to have a physical problem that gave the impression of his having committed an intentionally offensive act — but Deputy District Attorney Allison Worden isn't buying it.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

ABC's 50th Anniversary

Blooper Celebration

Originally shown to coincide with the network's half-century milestone, this two-part special gives host Dick Clark a bigger playing field than usual, since he culls gaffes and outtakes from many years of ABC programs. In Part 1, Joyce DeWitt turns up to present blunders from "Three's Company," while Marion Ross muses about goofs made on the "Happy Days" set.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

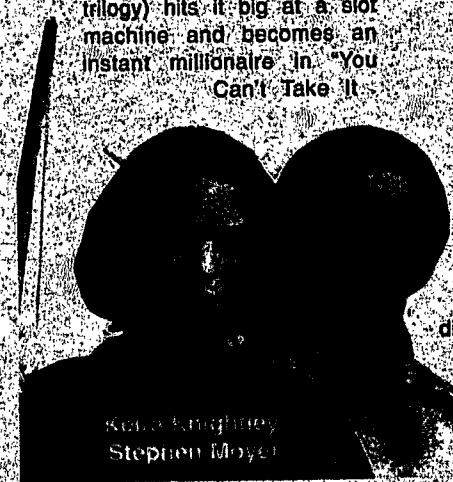

A Vegas resident (guest star Sean Astin, "The Lord of the Rings" trilogy) hits it big at a slot machine and becomes an instant millionaire in "You Can't Take It."

With You." He then suffers a supposed heart attack, revealed to be a ruse when his greedy wife shows up to stake her claim to his wealth. Ed (James Caan) is embarrassed by his visiting mother's (guest star June Lockhart) tales about him. Josh Duhamel also stars.

9 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Serpico

Al Pacino's screen career still was young when he tackled the true story of Frank Serpico, a New York police detective who made himself an outcast by blowing the whistle on corruption in his department. Based on the Peter Maas best-seller, director Sidney Lumet's engrossing 1973 drama boasts an excellent supporting cast including Tony Roberts, John Randolph and Judd Hirsch.

"COMING SOON (Upcoming release)
..."AGAINST THE ROPES" (July 13):
...Meg Ryan stars in the true story of ...Jackie Kallen, a boxing promoter who ...bet her career on one fighter (Omar
...Epps). Co-star Charles Dutton direct-
...ed the film. (PG-13; AS, P, V)
..."THE BIG BOUNCE" (July 20): A
...drifter (Owen Wilson) gets involved
...with a reckless young woman (Sara
...Foster) while he's caught in a battle ...between hotel operators. (PG-13; AS,
...P, V)
..."CONFESSIONS OF A TEENAGE
...DRAMA QUEEN" (July 20): A
...teenager (Lindsay Lohan) feels she ...must rebuild her entire life after she
...moves with her family to a New Jersey
...suburb. (PG; P)
..."THE HUMAN STAIN" (July 20): A
...professor (Anthony Hopkins) owns

On TV As the Stargate turns: Sci-Fi's 'Stargate SG-1' goes for eight

Who cares if the Goa'uld System
Lords are about to attack Earth, or if the Asgard are going to show up in time to save the day, or if the giant Ancient Weapon is of any more use to Earth than a pea-shooter?

The real question looming as Sci-Fi Channel's "Stargate SG-1" starts its eighth season Friday, July 9, is: Will cryogenically frozen Col. Jack O'Neill be thawed and survive so that he and
Maj. Samantha Carter can hook up or not?

To be fair, plenty of fans care about the System Lords and all that other plot stuff, but quite a few spend a lot of their time discussing, arguing and speculating about the love lives (or lack, thereof) of the main characters. They're the "shippers" (from the word "relationship"), and throughout science-fiction and fantasy television, they're among the most vocal and ardent fans.

In fact, the strong feelings of the shippers have had an effect on the development of the "Stargate SG-1" spinoff,
"Stargate Atlantis," which premieres
next week and will, after its two-hour premiere, share Friday nights with its predecessor.

"We're not going to set up obvious chemistry between our core characters
on 'Atlantis,'" says executive producer
Brad Wright, who works on both shows.
"Especially when 'Stargate' was so divided between 'shippers' and 'non-shippers,' and I didn't even know what that meant until long after we were doing it."

The main shipper issue on "Stargate
SG-1" concerns O'Neill (Richard Dean
Anderson) and his subordinate officer,
Carter (Amanda Tapping). Back in season four, in an episode called "Beneath the Surface," Wright and fellow executive producer Robert C. Cooper took a test swing at this by having the characters forget who they were while in captivity, therefore removing the impediments of military rank.

Wright says, "It struck us. If there was an attraction, and if they don't remember who they were, they might fall into a relationship, because they didn't know they were prohibited from doing so. Oh, the mail I got from that."

Turns out there are as many people who want them to be together as don't want them to be together.

Apparently, a character's demise is no impediment to shippers who want to pair up archaeologist Daniel Jackson (Michael Shanks) and SG-1's late medical officer, Dr. Janet Fraiser (Teryl

Rothery), who met her fate last season in Part 2 of "Heroes."

"There's a whole camp of people who want Daniel to get together with Janet," Wright says, "even though she's dead
now. I just think it's interesting, because they like the characters so much, the fans want them to be happy. They see them as the perfect couple - why don't they just get together?"

It's this passionate attachment that has contributed to the success of "Star-gate," both on cable and in syndication.

Anderson says, "Ultimately, what's kept it together over the years has been, in great part - aside from the stories that we're able to tell, the great imaginings of everyone involved - is the chemistry on-screen of the people
telling the stories."

Just how long this can continue remains an open question. Wright says,
"I had said categorically there was going to be no season seven, and here we are shooting season eight. I've stopped predicting."

When those words are relayed to him on set, Anderson - who has scaled back his working days on the show's Vancouver location to spend more time with his daughter - gives a sidelong look.

"I have no idea about nine," he says.
"I wasn't so sure about eight or seven,
for that matter. But as far as if you're asking, what is my future and my intentions, my intentions right now, as we speak, are to finish this year, be as integral a part of the franchise as I possibly can, and as I go through the process, helping to launch 'Atlantis' with my brief presence.

Then, my intention is to retire, with quotes around it, because I don't know what retirement means to a workaholic.
But I'm going to have to learn."

This season, fans will have to be satisfied with some big life changes for O'Neill and Carter that don't necessarily involve romance.

O'Neill is now Lord God-King Boo-Foo O'Neill, Tapping says. "And Sam's just 'Supersmart Sam.' That's all I can tell you."

For those who want Sam to put her love life on hold for O'Neill, Tapping says "tough." Her police-detective boyfriend, Pete Shanahan (David DeLuise), is coming back.

"He's not dead yet," she says, alluding to the high mortality rate among former Carter loves. "There's a huge hue and cry on the Internet from people who don't want Sam to be with him. They want her to be with O'Neill - and probably, deep down, Sam does, too. But she's given up on the idea of unrequited love and decided to live her life. But never say never, right?"
